TEAMSTERS STILL OUT NO BREAK IN STRIKE

Coal Dealers Waited in Vain for Men to Return This Morning—Situation Now More Strained Than Ever—Dealers Hire New Men and Resume Delivery

The members of Coal Teamsters union, local 72, met in their rooms in Central street last evening, and it must be said that it was some meeting. From the minute that President Fennell opened the meeting, it was full of life. Business of much importance was transacted and it is reported that one new application for membership was received. Yesterday the members received their benefits, and they were indeed a happy lot last evening. When the question as to whether or not they should return to work came up the members voted almost to a man to hold out. Many speeches were made by the members, all having to do with the strike situation. These speeches, whatever they contained, elicited much applause from the members. It was hinted that a tie-up in a large industry would be effected soon. Indeed, it was said that it might occur today. One of the members when questioned by a Sun reporter as to the men on the Gorham street job joining in and helping the teamsters in their present difficulty, replied that this information would be known soon enough. The fact that they would lose their positions if they refused to return to work today didn't seem to trouble them.

None Went to Work

The teamsters lived up to their declaration made last night that they would not return to work and none went back to their old jobs this morning. All members of the Teamsters' union gathered in their hall in Central street at 9 o'clock this morning and listened to words of advice from their officers. The teamsters will now wait for some move on the part of the dealers.

Regarding a statement in a local paper saying that the members of the local union applied for assistance in carrying on the strike, President Fennell said: "This statement is entirely false and I cannot understand from what source it came. The teamsters of this city have never applied for assistance outside of this city. As for the Boston union, we have nothing whatsoever to do with them."

Immediately after a meeting was called, and a list of routine business was transacted. It was noticed at the meeting that quite a few of the members were absent, but this was explained by the president, who told the members that the absent brothers were working on other positions, having accepted employment this morning.

What Dealer Says

A local coal dealer said he and the others would now proceed to hire men and do business as they had been idle long enough, while the men with motor trucks were doing the business of the city.

INDICTMENT OF MRS. CARMAN EXPECTED

Grand Jury Investigation Into Death of Mrs. Bailey Resumed — Maid Said Mrs. Carman Rushed Into the House After the Shot Was Fired — Three Physicians to be Called MINEOLA, N. Y., July 15.—At the resumption today of the grand jury investigation into the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on the night of June 30 in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman at Freeport, District Attorney Smith planned to call the three physicians—Dr. Roy Grimmer, Dr. Howard Phipps and Dr. Runcie—who performed the autopsy on Mrs. Bailey's body.

Of the three physicians, Dr. Runcie, who has been a close friend of the Carman family and lives across the street from them in Freeport, was the first person called by Dr. Carman after the murder. He is expected to tell the grand jury about the conversation he held with Mrs. Carman, who, it is said, told him about the telephone device by means of which she was enabled to hear conversations between Dr. Carman and his woman patients.

Other witnesses under subpoena for today include Gaston Boissonault and F. C. Burnett of the company that installed the telephone wires and instruments for Mrs. Carman; Coroner Norton and Mrs. Ida Powell, sister of Mrs. Carman. The coroner is expected to produce the bullet, the medicine that Dr. Carman gave Mrs. Bailey, the handbag and purse she carried when she was killed.

The district attorney announced he had learned the names of the two women patients who were in Dr. Carman's office at the time of the murder and who fled. They live near Freeport, it is said, and probably will be called before the grand jury tomorrow or Friday.

The testimony of Elwood T. Barde, whose statement at the coroner's inquest that he saw a woman walk from the office window to the back of the Carman house just after the murder was shot, resulted in Mrs. Carman being charged with the murder, remains to be repeated before the grand jury.

Dist. Atty. Smith expected today to close his case before the grand jury on Friday.

More details of the story of the Carman's maid, Celia Coleman, as told to the grand jury yesterday became known today.

Mrs. Carman Wore Kimono
Besides saying that Mrs. Carman had hurried through the kitchen from the back yard immediately after the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired, the girl, it is understood, said Mrs. Carman wore a kimono at the time. Mrs. Carman herself has said she wore a kimono, but has insisted that she was in her bedroom.

Dr. Carman, who is here, said today that he was sure the hand thrust through the window when the shot was fired was a man's. He recalled, he said, that on the wrist he saw a man's cuff.

Alvah Smith and Daniel, laymen members of the grand jury and close friends of Carman's asked to be excused from the jury today. Their request was granted. Their withdrawal still left a quorum of grand jurors and the proceedings will not be invalidated.

MAID SAYS MRS. CARMAN RUSHED THROUGH KITCHEN FROM OUTDOORS

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 15.—Celia Coleman, colored maid in the house of Dr. Edwin Carman two weeks ago when Mrs. Louise Bailey was murdered, has deserted Mrs. Carman.

She told her "amplified" story to the grand jury yesterday and smashed Mrs. Carman's alibi. The girl has been in custody of Burns detectives since the crime.

In the opinion of those who have followed the case closely it spells indictment for Mrs. Florence Carman, the jealous wife of the physician, who is now locked up in Mineola jail charged with the murder of Mrs. Bailey.

The essential part of the maid's testimony, as related to the grand jury at Mineola yesterday, is that she was in the kitchen of the Carman home at the time of the shooting; that she heard the fatal shot and the commotion in the doctor's office which followed immediately after, and that while she stood stock still in the kitchen, too frightened to move, Mrs. Carman came rushing in from the rear yard.

Mrs. Carman was breathless and excited. The maid said she did not see any revolver, but she not only saw Mrs. Carman, but spoke to her and Mrs. Carman answered.

church was a religious service followed by prayer by Pastor John J. Perkins of the Baptist church. After another service by the pastor, Rev. Miles B. Turner, pastor of the church, pronounced the eulogy.

"I am nearly broken hearted," he began, "over the loss of these five young girls of my parish. They were so full of promise, so full of life, so full of hope, and so full of love for their friends and for their country."

Many young girls, schoolmates of the victims, abandoned themselves to their grief. After prayer by Mr. Turner, Rev. Frank S. Hildreth of the Baptist church, who performed the ceremony, sang, and the church sang "Some Time We'll Understand."

Four of the caskets were opened and the bodies slowly passed the dead. During the removal of the caskets from the church one woman mourner fainted.

Supt. of Schools E. A. Dugley, the teachers and girl schoolmates escorted the bodies to Cold Spring cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blaisdell were so overcome that they made their way there with difficulty from the church to their carriage. Behind came their remaining daughters, supported by her brothers.

Mayor John F. Hurley, who was in the city at the time of the tragedy, was not present at the funeral.

Business was suspended in the city today.

1—SOME OF THE DEAD IN ZACATECAS 2—REBELS BOMBARDING ZACATECAS

These pictures were taken during and after the battle of Zacatecas. One of them shows rebel artillery in action hurling shot at the federal fortifications on the hills surrounding the city. The marksmanship of the rebel gunners was far superior to that of the federals. The other picture shows a scene in one of the streets after the fighting ceased and the rebels had taken possession of the city. Dead bodies were strewn all over.

My Dear Mr. Hill: I wish to express to you my appreciation for the beautiful bouquet which you presented me at the Bunting grounds on Saturday.

I have been in many places, and have always been treated courteously, but never as nicely as I was treated Saturday by the members of your club, and the city government of Lowell.

I shall always remember that day as one of the pleasant incidents of my life.

Thanking you once more for your kindness, I am,

WALSH TO INVESTIGATE

BOSTON, July 15.—It is the intention of Gov. Walsh to obtain within a few days information which will show just what part of the $1,000,000 originally appropriated for the development of the port of Boston has been expended, how much will be needed for the work now under way and what surplus there is likely to be available for the new board of port directors. The governor has chosen his own committee and will not be governed by the statements furnished by the retiring board members.

There is now pending before the governor and executive council the question of accepting contracts for the reconstruction of the proposed dock and pier in East Boston and several other contracts.

A majority of the retiring board, Gen. Hugh Russell, Admiral Francis T. Bowles and William F. Fitzgerald, has stated that all of the proposed improvements, including the pier dock and pier, can be completed within the $1,000,000 and still leave a surplus of $112,000.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in my class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Tait, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

CRIPPLE LEAPS OFF TRAIN

LANE PRISONER DROPPED CRUTCH AND ESCAPED—NATICK CHIEF HELPLESS

BOSTON, July 15.—Unable to give chase, because he happened to have two other men handcuffed to his wrist, Chief Hiram Brown of the Natick police force was forced to see a third prisoner, a lame man carrying a crutch, escape from his custody on an inward bound train at the Faneuil station yesterday afternoon.

The escaped prisoner is Burton Stevenson, aged 40, and he is still at large.

Chief Brown was conveying the three men to the East Cambridge jail. He took the precaution of handcuffing two of the men to his wrist, but taking Stevenson's lameness into consideration, he put no twisters on him.

Everything went well until the train began to pull out of the Faneuil station, when Stevenson got up from his seat and quickly hobbled to the platform and jumped off. In spite of the fact that he is suffering from a serious injury to his right foot, he threw his crutch away. This was found later.

Chief Brown was powerless to give chase with the other men tied to him. He continued on to the station in Brighton and then telephoned word to the police of station 14.

Officers were immediately sent to Faneuil but found no trace of Stevenson. The missing prisoner weighs about 170 pounds and has a black moustache.

WAS SCALDED TO DEATH

Claimed That Insane Patient at Taunton Was Burned in Bath Tub—Inquest Owing to Report

TAUNTON, July 15.—An inquest into the death of Mrs. George M. Gifford of Brockton, a patient at the Taunton Insane hospital, was held before Judge Austin yesterday as a result of the report of Medical Examiner Atwood that death resulted from burns from water while she was being given a bath. Mrs. Gifford was admitted to the hospital May 29 and the bath was given the next day. She had been in the bath about half an hour when it was discovered that an excess of hot water was running into the tub. She died at the hospital June 9.

Judge Austin reserved his decision. Miss Mary J. Smith, who, with Miss Jennie Schofield, was in charge of the bathroom, testified she drew the bath for Mrs. Gifford. The mixture of hot and cold water was tested at 55 degrees by Miss Ferguson, in charge of the ward.

Miss Smith said she closed all the valves tightly, stayed in the bathroom 20 minutes and went to breakfast. Miss Nora Walsh testified that when she came on duty a few minutes after 7 o'clock and noticed steam coming from the hot water valve she shut it off. The hot water valve was open half a turn. She notified Mrs. Margaret Hyer, a supervisor, and Miss Ferguson, and they took Mrs. Gifford from the tub and put her to bed. Mrs. Hyer said that Miss Smith drew the water for the bath at 5:40 o'clock under orders, that Miss Smith told her the valves were secure and that she saw Miss Smith try them. Then Miss Walsh reported that the steam was escaping and the witness said she thought that the valve had not been sufficiently turned off.

Miss Margaret Ferguson, in charge of the bathroom, said that she tried the bath with her hand, as the thermometer was out of order, and found it of the right temperature. She saw Miss Smith turn off the valves.

Dr. Grace G. Ripley of the hospital staff found that Mrs. Gifford had burns on her back and neck, right arm to elbow and right foot. They were believed to be superficial at first, but increased in short time. She was delirious at first, but the delirium abated and she was more comfortable for several days. There was no marked change until death. The tub had been used continuously and no part was out of order. The engineer had examined it and reported it in perfect order.

Dr. Arthur V. Goss, superintendent of the hospital, described the continuous bath treatment which had been in use at the hospital for two years. He also described the valve by which the tub was filled and said they could not be turned by the patient.

FOUND ASLEEP IN SWAMP

WENDELL YOUNGSTRAY STRAYED OFF WHILE ON BERRYING TRIP—GLAD TO GET HOME AGAIN

WENDELL, July 15.—Following an all-night search by some 15 men, little Hermon King, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry King, was found sound asleep in a swamp here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by Frank Ballou.

The little fellow went blueberrying Monday morning with his sister. While she went after her horse, which had strayed down the road, Hermon also strayed away.

When the girl returned and missed her brother, she searched for some time and then notified people living in the vicinity.

Mr. Ballou found the youngster about three-quarters of a mile from the Ballou berry pasture. He was none the worse for his night's exposure, but pleased to get home.

SHAMROCK IV READY

LIPTON CHALLENGER FOR AMERICA'S CUP WILL DEPART FOR U. S. ON JULY 18

GOSPORT, England, July 15.—Everything is ready for the departure on July 18 for the United States of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup. Her compasses have been adjusted, her keel rig fitted and the steam yacht Erlu, also belonging to Sir Thomas, is waiting to convey her across the Atlantic.

"The Shamrock IV has done all that has been asked of her," is the final word of Charles E. Nicholson, the designer. He admits, however, that the trial boat was in no way satisfactory as the type of opponent which would enable yachtsmen accurately to gauge Shamrock IV's chances of lifting the America's cup.

Underwriters at Lloyd's are not so optimistic as Mr. Nicholson concerning Shamrock's chances. Their estimate today was roughly, 4 to 1 against the challenger. In other words they are issuing policies at a premium of 35 per cent to pay the total loss if Shamrock IV should prove successful. A similar risk in connection with an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic during the present year is being covered at eight per cent. The crew of the Shamrock IV, numbering more than 20 men, is to be divided during the voyage across, half of the sailors luxuriating on board the Erin as far as the Azores and then relieving their shipmates for the remainder of the journey.

THE ADAMSON DAM BILL

CONSIDERATION AS SOON AS APPROPRIATION BILLS ARE OUT OF JURY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—With all differences of opinion over proposed conservation legislation removed, passage of legislation on the subject at this session of congress was today believed to be assured. The resolutions embodying the legislation are the Adamson dam bill now pending in the house and the Ferris bill, to regulate water power projects on public lands. As a result a complete agreement was reached between the advocates of the two bills and when the conference broke up all parties to it predicted passage of the measures.

Consideration of the Adamson bill, it was announced today will be continued as soon as the appropriation bills are out of the way. The conference decided to keep jurisdiction over all dams and water power sites on the public domain and those on property not in the public domain entirely separate. Minor changes were made in the Adamson bill in order that provisions thought to conflict with the Ferris bill might be made clearer and more definitely defined.

NEWEST PICTURE OF DR. CARMAN TAKING FLOWERS TO HIS WIFE IN JAIL

PHOTOGRAPH BY CHAS. E. COOPER

This is the latest picture of Dr. Edwin Carman, one of the principals in the now famous Bailey-Carman murder mystery. It was taken when the doctor visited his wife at the Alamo (N. Y.) jail, where she is held charged with the murder of Mrs. William D. Bailey, one of her husband's patients. Dr. Carman carries flowers to his wife daily and is directing the lawyers who are trying to free her. It is now over two weeks since Mrs. Bailey was shot to death in Dr. Carman's office at Freeport, N. Y., and the only arrest made is that of Mrs. Carman, who had admitted that she had spied upon her husband with a dictograph when he had women patients.

Cotton was an article of commerce in Italy long before its introduction into England. In the 15th and 16th centuries, Milan and Florence, Venice and Genoa were markets from which raw cotton was distributed to the workers of the Netherlands, who subsequently introduced it into Lancashire.

It is reported that a new Massachusetts corporation is to be formed in Boston under the name of the Oneida Knitting company, which certain assets of the present Oneida Regal Knitting Co. will be transferred. Holding of Oneida Regal preferred stock will receive 110 per cent. of the par value of their holdings and $3.50 per share cash. The new Oneida Knitting Co. will have a capitalization of $600,000 seven per cent. accumulative preferred stock, $150,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds and $150,000 common stock.

John McLaughly of the Tremont & Suffolk mills wishes to issue a challenge to George Goddard of the Maxine amateur champions of Lowell. McLaughly, who is but 16 years old, has completed in but one race that being the Sacred Heart race from Belle Grove. McLaughly finished third, Goddard and Nebes being but a scant margin ahead of him. He thinks that his showing in this race entitles him to a race with the champion and is anxious that it should be pulled off as soon as possible. McLaughly will train for a 10-mile race on the South common under the able guidance of Jack Mahan, the old-time bicycle racer, who has handled some of the fastest long distance runners in New England. Mahan is of the opinion that McLaughly can defeat Goddard, Nebes or Christo with ease. Let's have it, boys.

Carpenters Held Meeting
The Carpenters' union, local 43, held a largely attended meeting in its hall in the Runda building last evening. Considerable important business was transacted and two new members were admitted. Several applications for membership were also received. Michael A. Lee, the newly elected busness agent was around and was kept very busy attending to the wants of the various members. President Antoni Bellefeuille gave a very interesting talk on unionism and at the close he was loudly applauded. The report of the secretary showed all men working and the union in good financial straits.

Bigelow Carpet Co.
Says the Textile Manufacturers Journal:
The date at which Bigelow Carpet Co., stockholders may take advantage of the syndicate offer and deposit their stock at the Second National Bank, Boston, will expire Friday, and it is generally believed that the success of the plan is assured. The bankers representing the syndicate, F. A. Mosely & Co., may reserve their statement until next week.

Large Humidifier Order
The Fall River Iron Works of Fall River, has recently placed an order for equipping their No. 7 mill with Turbo-humidifiers, an invention of an ex-Lowell man Albert W. Thompson, formerly superintendent of the Saco-Lowell shops. The G. M. Parks Co., of Fitchburg, which manufactures the Turbo-humidifier will have charge of the installing. They will install over 300 sprinkler heads. The Fall River Iron Works is but one of the many industries throughout New England that has taken up humidification.

Cotton as a Disease Carrier
It is often said that smallpox and other diseases are transmitted through the agency of raw cotton. If raw cotton were the means of carrying smallpox germs the fact must have been established long before now. Cotton has been accused of carrying the germs of this dreaded disease especially, but the evidence has never been other than circumstantial and the case is the same as in the present instance. Ten persons in a cotton mill, not very far away from this city have been smitten with the disease and nine of them worked in a picker or card room in which certain Mexican cotton had been used. The cotton accordingly gets the blame at this place, but some other source will have to be found for two other cases occurred simultaneously 40 miles beyond this place. We get smallpox in this country at periodical intervals of ten to 12 years, and in accordance with this theory another outbreak is about due. Its coming has been looked forward to with apprehension, for in textile districts the prejudice is strong against vaccination and in many of them a round half of the population is unprotected by vaccine.

Night Law in Effect
The right of the New York legislature to pass laws prohibiting women and girls from working in factories between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. was upheld yesterday by the appellate division of the supreme court by a vote of four to one. The only dissenting vote was based on the fact that the appellate division is bound to the contrary by a decision of the court of appeals, and that if the ruling to this effect by the highest court is no longer controlling, it is for the court of appeals to say so. The law upheld by the decision yesterday is an amendment of the labor law passed last year.

The question was before the court in an appeal by the Charles Schneider Press, Inc., which was found guilty in special sessions of employing women after 10 o'clock at night. Sentence was suspended in order that the courts might determine whether the law was in violation of the constitutional rights of the defendant and its employees as to depriving them of life, liberty and property without due process of law. The constitutionality of the law was upheld on the broad ground that it aimed to preserve the health of women and thereby preserve the health of the race, since the chief function of women is motherhood. The opinion of Presiding Justice Ingraham points out that it is important for the welfare of the race that women have proper rest, and that it has been proved that night work is more of a drain on the human being than day work, especially in the case of women.

Presiding Justice Ingraham said: "The law recognizes a distinction between the sexes and justifies legislative enactment for the protection of the morals of women, which have not been and are not now considered necessary in the case of men. Upon the health of women as the child bearing sex necessarily depends the future health of succeeding generations. Any occupation that tends to lower the vitality of woman and interferes with her bearing healthy children impairs the health and capacity of future generations and is a subject of the utmost public concern."

LAWRENCE TOOK GAME IN 11TH

Lowell Almost Won a Game From Down River Club

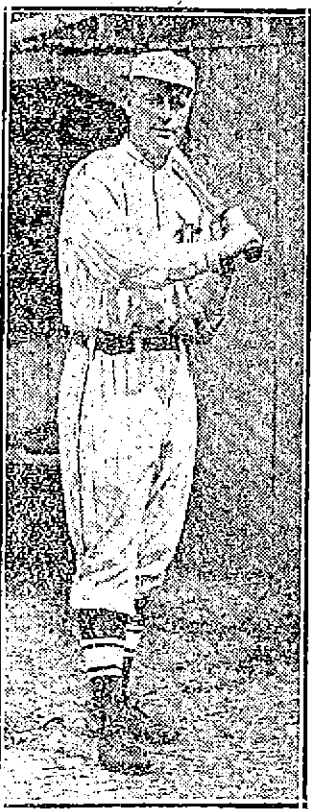

Rube De Groff Banged Out Home Run With Two Men On Bases

Eight out of nine is a pretty big average and the Lawrence club boarded their auto yesterday feeling that they might just as well stay down river drinking pop and chalk up another win for themselves as to come all the way up to Spaulding park for a sure win. "What's the use," said someone as the team scrambled aboard. "Sure we've got the Indian sign on that Lowell bunch and they haven't got a chance." And so it seems.

RUBE DEGROFF

Just how long they will stay there, of course, we can't tell but Pieper has gotten together a mighty likely looking lot of ball players. However, the team individually isn't so much superior to our own club, but the machinery appears to be better oiled and runs much smoother. Great credit should be given the Lawrence manager for the manner in which he has brought his club to its present position. Capt. Bill Luyster brought with him his heaviest war clubs. Although Luyster is a slugger on any field, statistics show that he has everlastingly massaged the ball on the Lowell grounds. For some reason or other Bill generally wallows the ball hard and far in his performances at Spaulding park. The locals seem to be more than a little taken over now that Matthews has been released. Matty was relied upon in the pinches by his club-mates and this fact is no small factor in a successful ball camp. If Gray cannot find an outfielder that suits his fancy it is possible that "Rube" Weaver may be shifted to the outfield. There are six pitchers now on the Lowell team and this is rather too many for a class B organization.

The news that Wilson, premier batter in this league last season, and a Red Sox recruit on the southern trip, was on his way from Memphis to Lynn, made both Jimmy Gray and Louis Pieper sit up and take notice. With Wilson guarding the initial sack for the Shoemakers, Patsy Mahoney's club won't look so easy to defeat. The Lynn manager expects great things of Wilson.

Jimmy Ring was once more picked for mound duty. Jimmy met defeat at the hands of Pieper's crew last week and was anxious to even things up today. The Brooklyn lad has been saving his arm for just this occasion and the day could not have been better for him. Jimmy always works better in hot weather and it was certainly tropical this afternoon.

"Jimmy" O'Brien, captain of a Holy Cross team last spring and Red Sox recruit, showed up just before the game and went into center-field in Matthews' place. O'Brien looked very good in the field during the preliminary practice.

President Roach of the Lowell club injected a lot of ginger into the team when he told the players just before the game that he would make each player a present of $50, providing that they won the pennant. Louis Pieper smiled broadly when he heard of the offer.

Harry Thompson was Pieper's choice for the firing line and Bruggy, Lawrence's reliable backstop, was at the other end of the visiting battery. Thompson has pitched five games against Lowell and won four of them. The Lawrence southpaw is generally considered the nemesis of the Lowell club. Mike Doherty was the indicator holder and called Peplowski to the plate at just two minutes after 3 o'clock.

First Inning
Ring was very wild on the first three deliveries but then struck two through the groove. Peplowski fouled off one and was called out on strikes by Doherty on Ring's next offering. Lynch jockeyed into a free journey to the first bag after fouling several times. He was out, however, when Wacob threw the ball to Cargio when "Mike" attempted to steal second. Ring fielded Luyster's grounder and the captain of the down-river club was retired at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Dee lifted the ball to right field but Luyster came fast and got under the fly. DeGroff smashed one over second into center field and a vigorous hand-clapping greeted the single. O'Brien snapped a liner at Thompson which the Lawrence pitcher knocked down with one hand. Mahoney ran up and threw O'Brien out at first while DeGroff went to second. Simpson fouled to Bruggy. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lawrence 0.

Second Inning
Bruggy got a life when Dee failed to field his grounder and made second base when Dee dropped Wacob's throw. Mahoney walked, the last ball being high. Bruggy attempted to steal third but Wacob's throw to Burke, in spite of the high pitch, was perfect and Burke had the ball on Bruggy several feet from the bag. It was a poor play for Bruggy to make with nobody down. Mahoney stole second after getting a long lead off first. Mahoney went to third on Connelly's infield out. Dee to Kelly. Mahoney attempted to steal home on Ring's windup but Wacob made an easy putout at the plate. No runs, no hits, one error.

Mahoney was injured while sliding into the plate and the game was held up for several minutes while Larry's injured limb was splinted up under the grandstand. Thompson struck Burke on the ribs with a first one when the game was resumed, and the Lowell captain went to first base. Cargio attempted to bunt but popped up a fly to Thompson. Burke took a lead on Thompson and made a beautiful delayed steal at second base. Kelly grounded out, Lynch to Aubrey. Burke remaining at second, Wacob singled to right field, scoring Burke with the first run of the game. Pete got a big hand from the fans. "Jimmy" Ring met with no accidents and crashed the atmosphere thrice. One run, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Third Inning
O'Connell attempted to bunt twice with resulting fouls and then struck out. Aubrey, spiked a recent injury to his underpinning, beat out a hit along the third base line. Thompson hit one of his handle into Ring's hands. Peplowski hit a slow grounder to Cargio and beat the ball to first, Aubrey going to second. With a hit meaning at least a tie score, Ring then struck out Lynch. No runs, two hits, no errors.

"Shorty" Dee stroled to first on four.

Fourth Inning
Luyster hit to Dee and was retired at first on "Shorty's" peg to Kelly. Ring struck out Bruggy with his spitball and the crowd roared the Lawrence catcher. Mahoney hit to Dee and died at first. Kelly covering the bag in splendid form. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Connelly made a nice play of Burke's grounder, cutting off "Bully" with his peg to Aubrey. Mahoney fielded Cargio's grounder near second base and "Chick" went out at first. It was a nice play. Kelly hit to Lynch and Aubrey made one of the game's feature plays when he stabbed Lynch's throw with his silver hand, making the putout. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Fifth Inning
Burke fielded Connelly's grounder and completed the put-out with a perfect throw to Kelly. The fans roundly applauded him when he struck out O'Connell for the second time. Aubrey was out at first when Dee picked up this grounder and pegged to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Wacob took a good look at Thompson's delivery and finally Umpire Deherty went him to first for a free pass. Ring lifted a fly between Bruggy and Thompson which fell between them. Wacob, expecting the ball to be caught, stayed at first and was easily forced out at second on Bruggy's throw to Lynch. Dee spanked a single into center, sending him to second. DeGroff lifted a fly to O'Connell in short left center. O'Brien hit to Mahoney and Dee was forced at second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Sixth Inning
Thompson got a scratch hit when he hit a slow roller between Burke and Ring and beat the throw to first. Thompson stole second, Wacob's throw being high. Wacob made a swell stop of a wild pitch, holding Thompson at second. Ring used his well oiling on Peplowski and the result was a strike out. Lynch singled over Cargio's head and Thompson came home with the tying run. It was the first genuine hit that Lawrence had made off Ring. Lynch stole second. Ring also struck out Luyster. Bruggy drew a pass and Mahoney, another dangerous hitter, was up. Mahoney lived up to his reputation and singled to right, sending Lynch across the plate and Bruggy to third. Mahoney stole second without an attempt being made to get him. Connelly closed the disastrous inning by grounding out. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Stimpson went out, Mahoney to Aubrey, Ring taking a lucky bound before it reached Mahoney. Burke went out at first on a grounder to Connelly. O'Connell ran over into left center and tried to get Cargio's fly with one hand, but dropped it and "Chick" remained at first. Cargio was forced at second when Kelly hit to Lynch. No runs, no hits, one error.

Score: Lawrence 2, Lowell 1.

Seventh Inning
O'Connell filed to DeGroff in short right. Kelly made a great catch of Aubrey's foul fly taking the ball over his shoulder while on the run. Burke was under Thompson's fly and the side was retired. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Wacob started the seventh for Lowell with a single to left. Greenhalge was sent in to run for Wacob. "Pete" was hit in the knee with a foul tip in the preceding inning and the blow had landed him up. Ring hit to Lynch and Greenhalge was forced at second, the Lowell pitcher being safe at first on a close play. Dee dropped a Texas leaguer over Mahoney's leg and Ring went to second. With two men on and the local team one run behind, the crowd implored DeGroff for a hit. The Rubie came through after getting in the hole for two strikes and smashed the ball to the deep right hand corner of the park for a homer, scoring Ring and Dee ahead of him. The crowd went crazy over the Rubie's long climb. O'Brien filed out to O'Connell's right center. Stimpson also fell a victim to O'Connell when he sent a line drive into center. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 4, Lawrence 2.

Eighth Inning
Greenhalge went in to catch for Lowell in the eighth. Peplowski singled through, Dee into left center. Peplowski went out trying to steal second. Lynch was called out on strikes and registered his customary kick, much to the enjoyment of the crowd. Luyster filed to Stimpson. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Thompson walked Burke. He went out trying to steal second. Cargio walked. Kelly singled to left, but Cargio was thrown out at third. Greenhalge fouled to Bruggy. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 4, Lawrence 2.

Ninth Inning
Bruggy beat out an infield hit to Dee. Mahoney singled to center, sending Bruggy to third. Ring struck out Connelly. Bruggy scored on O'Connell's infield out, Dee to Kelly. Pearson went into bat for Aubrey.

Pearson singled to center, sending in successive bad offerings. DeGroff cracked out his second hit, a single to left, Dee holding onto second. O'Brien laid down a sacrifice bunt to Aubrey and was pegged out on his way to first. Shortly and the Rubie now held third and second respectively. Stimpson lined into Thompson's hands and an easy double was in order when Thompson threw to Connelly at third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Fourth Inning
Luyster hit to Dee and was retired at first on "Shorty's" peg to Kelly. Ring struck out Bruggy with his spitball and the crowd roared the Lawrence catcher. Mahoney hit to Dee and died at first. Kelly covering the bag in splendid form. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Connelly made a nice play of Burke's grounder, cutting off "Bully" with his peg to Aubrey. Mahoney fielded Cargio's grounder near second base and "Chick" went out at first. It was a nice play. Kelly hit to Lynch and Aubrey made one of the game's feature plays when he stabbed Lynch's throw with his silver hand, making the putout. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Fifth Inning
Burke fielded Connelly's grounder and completed the put-out with a perfect throw to Kelly. The fans roundly applauded him when he struck out O'Connell for the second time. Aubrey was out at first when Dee picked up this grounder and pegged to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Wacob took a good look at Thompson's delivery and finally Umpire Deherty went him to first for a free pass. Ring lifted a fly between Bruggy and Thompson which fell between them. Wacob, expecting the ball to be caught, stayed at first and was easily forced out at second on Bruggy's throw to Lynch. Dee spanked a single into center, sending him to second. DeGroff lifted a fly to O'Connell in short left center. O'Brien hit to Mahoney and Dee was forced at second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, Lawrence 0.

Sixth Inning
Thompson got a scratch hit when he hit a slow roller between Burke and Ring and beat the throw to first. Thompson stole second, Wacob's throw being high. Wacob made a swell stop of a wild pitch, holding Thompson at second. Ring used his well oiling on Peplowski and the result was a strike out. Lynch singled over Cargio's head and Thompson came home with the tying run. It was the first genuine hit that Lawrence had made off Ring. Lynch stole second. Ring also struck out Luyster. Bruggy drew a pass and Mahoney, another dangerous hitter, was up. Mahoney lived up to his reputation and singled to right, sending Lynch across the plate and Bruggy to third. Mahoney stole second without an attempt being made to get him. Connelly closed the disastrous inning by grounding out. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Stimpson went out, Mahoney to Aubrey, Ring taking a lucky bound before it reached Mahoney. Burke went out at first on a grounder to Connelly. O'Connell ran over into left center and tried to get Cargio's fly with one hand, but dropped it and "Chick" remained at first. Cargio was forced at second when Kelly hit to Lynch. No runs, no hits, one error.

Score: Lawrence 2, Lowell 1.

Seventh Inning
O'Connell filed to DeGroff in short right. Kelly made a great catch of Aubrey's foul fly taking the ball over his shoulder while on the run. Burke was under Thompson's fly and the side was retired. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Wacob started the seventh for Lowell with a single to left. Greenhalge was sent in to run for Wacob. "Pete" was hit in the knee with a foul tip in the preceding inning and the blow had landed him up. Ring hit to Lynch and Greenhalge was forced at second, the Lowell pitcher being safe at first on a close play. Dee dropped a Texas leaguer over Mahoney's leg and Ring went to second. With two men on and the local team one run behind, the crowd implored DeGroff for a hit. The Rubie came through after getting in the hole for two strikes and smashed the ball to the deep right hand corner of the park for a homer, scoring Ring and Dee ahead of him. The crowd went crazy over the Rubie's long climb. O'Brien filed out to O'Connell's right center. Stimpson also fell a victim to O'Connell when he sent a line drive into center. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 4, Lawrence 2.

Eighth Inning
Greenhalge went in to catch for Lowell in the eighth. Peplowski singled through, Dee into left center. Peplowski went out trying to steal second. Lynch was called out on strikes and registered his customary kick, much to the enjoyment of the crowd. Luyster filed to Stimpson. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Thompson walked Burke. He went out trying to steal second. Cargio walked. Kelly singled to left, but Cargio was thrown out at third. Greenhalge fouled to Bruggy. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 4, Lawrence 2.

Ninth Inning
Bruggy beat out an infield hit to Dee. Mahoney singled to center, sending Bruggy to third. Ring struck out Connelly. Bruggy scored on O'Connell's infield out, Dee to Kelly. Pearson went into bat for Aubrey.

Every year in the United States two hundred million dollars worth of property is destroyed by fire. Every day in the United States five hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of property is destroyed by fire. Fifty per cent of these fires are caused by carelessness. You can do your share to prevent fires by observing the following: 1. Fire alarm boxes are located near your house and place of employment. You should know the location of these boxes. You should know how to ring in a fire alarm. This is the method: 2. In case of a fire go to the box and open the door. On the inside you will find a hook. Pull this hook all the way down once and let go. Opening a door rings a bell but does NOT give the alarm. 3. Listen for the working of the machinery in the box. If you do not hear it pull the hook again. If there is no sound go to the next nearest box. Repeat the same thing there. 4. Do not touch any other box if you hear the machinery in the first one moving. 5. After giving the alarm remain at the box to direct the firemen to the fire. 6. If you do not understand these directions go to the nearest fire station. The officer in charge will instruct you.

CAUTIONS

Never open the box or touch the hook except in case of fire. Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance. Be reasonably sure that there is a fire before giving an alarm. Be just as cautious when buying your AUTO SUPPLIES as you are of the nearest fire alarm box.

GUILTY DIRECTORS

The worst enemy of those who managed the affairs of the New Haven railroad in the days when it fell from its high position to the low level it now holds could not invent a more scathing arraignment than is contained in the bitter denunciation of the Interstate Commerce commission and the warmest apostle of the property and its alleged wreckers would look in vain through the voluminous columns of the report for one grain of comfort. The one naked fact that stands out from an array of bitter truths is this: The New Haven directors robbed the stockholders of a sum not less than $60,000,000 and possibly as high as $80,000,000. What the robbery has meant to New England, to the stockholders, and to New England business is too well known to need any comment.

Never before in the history of American railroading has such a charge been made by a government body, and the entire country will await the results. Without mincing the matter the commission holds several individuals guilty of robbery directly and indirectly, and the hope is held out that from the misused funds a comparatively few millions may be recovered. No one reading the report could doubt for a moment that prosecutions are intended, and lest there should be any doubt of its intent the report specifically says that the uncovered evidence of mismanagement and worse has been sent to the district attorneys of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York, and also to the federal department of justice.

The report has not revealed anything that New England has not already heard many times, but for the first time it arranges the facts in their proper proportion and does away with technicality in fixing the responsibility. No real defence is possible, and it is difficult to see how any defence can be undertaken. The public must believe that the government investigation has fulfilled its purpose and the next important point is whether the matter will be allowed to fall through or whether it will finish up in the courts. "None of the directors would have been so careless," says the report, "in the handling of his own money as the evidence demonstrates they were in dealing with the money of other people."

Hereby his food for thought. If the directors of the New Haven did as they were represented to do in this arraignment, they were directors in name only, and their influence was for evil. It is to be feared that in their negligence they were by no means exceptional. With cheerful flippancy Mr. Mellen related recently between reminiscent smiles how he and the other lesser financiers were pawns in the hands of the almighty Morgan, and throughout the country millions of money deposited by trusting investors in railroad and other stock are wholly in the hands of some czar-like chairman who dictates his disposition to a servile coterie of satellites. Apparently had Mr. Morgan taken several millions of New Haven money—and by the way, New Haven money was largely the money of poor or middle class New England people—to finance an aerial line to the moon, the nominal board of directors would have voted to support him unconditionally and would have given the almost superhuman authority.

The former board of directors of the New Haven railroad may not trouble in their shoes at the thought of possible prosecution—and indeed it is probable that they laugh knowingly when no one is around—but the report of the Interstate Commerce commission must have convinced them that being a director is more than an ornamental task. It may possibly dawn on a few of them that being an unthinking director who is directed by another is criminal, and that the responsibility for wrecks done under these circumstances does not, and until restitution is made to the public. Commenting on the specific case of the New Haven, the Boston Post says, pertinently:

"If there is a possibility of holding these directors many of them men of admitted personal probity, financially responsible for the New Haven's enormous millions, those millions ought to be collected for the benefit of the stockholders. In that case it will be unpleasant for some of the eminent contributors to pay, but their conscience cannot save them."

If there are any dissenting voices against this view they will not in all probability belong to those who have been reduced to poverty by the "maladministration" of the accused directors.

GODDING OUR POLICE FORCE

Considering the present financial status of this city and calling to mind the familiar attitude of our municipal council with regard to any suggestion for an improvement involving a monetary outlay, the proposition to give members of the police department one day off in fifteen. In addition to their present two weeks' vacation with pay is nothing short of outrageous. That four members of the governing body should have voted for such a proposition is as inexplicable as it is indefensible. If there is one citizen who

Where, outside the ranks of the police department itself, was there any call for this new and expensive municipal regulation? It comes on the city with more startling suddenness than the storm of Sunday last. Of course the police department relies. All public employees would like days off, just as they like pensions and other things that they sometimes get when officials have not a very high sense of their responsibility. Nevertheless the expensive grant will not be approved by the great masses of Lowell people. When a far more desirable proposition than this, viz: that to give the firemen one day off in five, was proposed, Lowell threw it down unthinkingly. Luckily for the police department, if unfortunately for Lowell citizens, the demand of the police department was not submitted to the people.

Let us examine the one day off in fifteen proposition, which our mayor and commissioners have just foisted on the public. It will give each member of the department 21 and one-third free days each year, which is equivalent to a financial gift of $72 for each patrolman in the service. Our park department, our school department, and other departments are suffering for lack of adequate appropriations but the police department gets a gift of about $10,000 annually merely because they or their superintendent asked for it. This makes the "economy" cry look sickly.

If the department can afford to give each man one day off in fifteen without affecting the service, then it appears that it could get along with just one-fifteenth fewer men than are now employed. There are at present in the department 111 patrolmen, 16 "supers" and 27 superior officers—154 in all. One-fifteenth of that number in round numbers would be ten and a patrolman's pay, ten men will earn in a year $10,250. But this new scheme in all probability means that supernumeraries will be called in to take the place of the men who have their days off, for from nine to ten will be off each day. If this be done, then it amounts to giving ten men a vacation daily with pay while hiring others to take their places. That would double the expense, or make the total cost of the arrangement at least $20,000 per annum.

In the reformed Lowell, police officers do not seem to be overworked; they do not look like an abused or ill-used body; they have two weeks' vacation annually with pay. Their homes are definite and they have a good deal of free time. How very different it is with the firemen who are on duty for the whole 24 hours, and on whom so much depends. They get one day off in eight but they are on duty three times as long each day as the police officers.

If there is any sense of fair play or any demand for sane city government in Lowell, the public protest against this glaring injustice of the municipal council will be both prompt and vigorous.

SALEM FIRE HEROES

Salem, Salem, Salem—here, there and everywhere! It is impossible to get away from it. On all sides communities large and small are calling attention to the conditions that brought ruin and misery to that historic city and showing how local shortcomings might at any time precipitate a like condition in practically all the cities of New England. With the impetus of the recent disaster, laws have been passed and municipal regulations have been made that will mean a great deal in progressive fire fighting and prevention for the future. This is especially noticeable in cities such as Lowell that have wooden tenements close together, shingled roofs, narrow streets, and a small fire area.

One of the newest regulations is that which favors placing the whole of a city within the fire district and having just as strict rules for the residential district as for the business district. Before a man could easily get a permit to erect a house or barn and no one cared a great deal how dangerous or undesirable his plans were if they conformed with a certain external plan. Now, roofs, hallways, elevator shafts and such things will receive the attention of the authorities, for the truth is dawned on all our municipalities that in matters of fire risk a man is his brother's keeper. No selfish word or indifference should be allowed to endanger a whole community.

For instance, the leather factory where the Salem fire started might naturally hesitate to install sprinklers owing to the cost, but what has the fire cost? Far more than can be counted in the enormous monetary loss.

Boston has succeeded in getting through a new fire ordinance and the papers there have not yet ceased agitating for still greater securities. They now want to have the fire district regulations extend to the entire city. Providence is another city which comes to the front with fire prevention activity. It has a close district of one and a half square miles with sixteen building laws but sixteen square miles are permitted to go on almost any old way. It is becoming recognized that the only adequate close district is that which embraces the entire city. Salem truths are gaining ground.

EXAMINING MR. WARBURG

The Boston Herald thinks that in refusing to be questioned by the senate committee, Mr. Warburg, the president's choice for the federal reserve board, is making a serious mistake, and many other papers are of the same opinion—enemies of a democratic administration to the contrary. "The senate is only doing its duty in making searching inquiry into the record of a man manifestly selected for leadership in this huge undertaking," says the Herald, continuing: "The theory that anybody is above investigation seems to us essentially dangerous." It seems to be the general opinion of all who have commented on the case that Mr. Warburg need have no fear of any questioning at the hands of the senate committee and therefore his stand is all the more unaccountable. He reflects the spirit of the occasional business man who makes a great success owing to superlative ability, but who then regards any questions, official or otherwise, as an intrusion into private and personal matters. The man who would direct the affairs of the federal reserve board needs patriotism quite as much as ability, and if he has such a sense of his own importance as to feel that the United States senate is a secondary matter, perhaps it may be just as well that he be allowed to go his way, in isolated and unperturbed superiority.

PETTY GRAFFS

Governor Walsh very properly called the attention of the state a few days ago to certain petty grafts that are no credit to individuals responsible for them or to the patriotism of some Massachusetts politicians. From time immemorial it has been the custom of members of legislative commissions and others drawing pay from the public treasury to stretch matters a little bit when sending in a bill for personal expenses, and some of the petty grafters went so far as to include hotel bills for periods when they were in their own home town and bills for liberal tips given to waiters and others. The governor showed up the irregularity and dishonesty of this mode of procedure and he has instructed the state auditor to refuse to audit any such accounts until an investigation is made. In individual cases the leaks on the treasury were not very large but the governor stated that such small grafts cost Massachusetts many thousands annually. It would be well if it seems that in cases of habitual abuses of this nature the name of the guilty patriot should be published so that Massachusetts voters could repudiate anyone guilty of such mean and undesirable conduct.

WHY NOT JUSTICE TAFT?

Once again the death of a justice of the United States supreme court brings the name of former President Taft before the public as a possible choice. When the late Justice Horace Harmon Lurton was appointed in 1910, it was generally admitted that President Taft recognized ability above everything else, and few democrats even of the most bitterly partisan variety would have faulted if President Wilson should now offer the honor to the former chief executive in the same manner. Mr. Taft's ability as a lawyer has never been questioned and he has the conservative and philosophic mind which is essential on the supreme bench—more important in some respects than congress. As president, Mr. Taft got an insight into national affairs that would now stand him in good stead and his many legal pronouncements since he retired from politics reveal his patriotism, his deep seated wisdom and his unusual knowledge of the processes of law and of the broad basis on which law is founded. President Wilson would make no mistake ethically or politically in making Mr. Taft the successor of the late Justice Lurton.

BERKMAN'S DREAM

Speaking in New York last Saturday at the memorial service of the dead anarchist, Arthur Cron, Alexander Berkman predicted a sugar-coated revival of the French Revolution in this country and gave utterance to sentiments that would probably have landed him in jail for a long term in any other country on earth. He landed force and bloodshed and referred touchingly to the "martyrs" who, he said, may have been "killed while making an instrument to destroy capital." If he speaks for any organized body of men in America, be it large or small, there certainly is sufficient warning for the authorities everywhere in the following insane effusion:

"As anarchists, we are now ready to do anything to gain the points we desire; we do not wish to do the things that the police and the press expect us to do, because that would be too simple. I predict that the social revolution will come in the near future, and when it does come, the anarchists will be more daring and more determined than they ever have been before. We are now ready to do anything to gain our demands, and to gain our rights."

SEEN AND HEARD

A broker, brooding over the heavy expenses of maintaining his office thought he would save money by having a cheap lunch.

He wandered into a little restaurant off Commercial and ordered a frugal meal costing a few pence. Looking up he recognized in the waiter an old stock broker.

"Hello, Harry, have you come down to this?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm all right. I only wallow about here!" was the reply.—The Sun.

OBSERVANT CITIZEN IN WRONG

Here is one of the best fish stories of the season. I found it in looking through a copy of The Lowell Sun. In Long Pond there is a kind of fish known as the rainbow trout. "The fish," says The Sun, "is white or deep red. The rainbow is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds."

Some fish!

The above observation is by the observant citizen in the Boston Post and it is very evident that this erudite citizen is not a fisherman. He may be weather-wise and otherwise but he isn't fish-wise. In order that he may not leap again before he looks, we would respectfully refer him to The Angler's Guide, page 102. He will read there that the flesh of the rainbow trout is white or deep red; that the fish is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds. We have forwarded his criticism to the editor of The Angler's Guide and also to the U. S. commissioner of fish and game whose report on page 102 deals with the rainbow trout.

WILD ANIMALS' FIDELITY

One of the most remarkable instances of the fidelity of a wild animal to its mate, says the Moncton Times, comes from South Branch, Kent county, N. B., and is vouched for by a gentleman who is well known to the Times.

He writes:

"I had a business at South Branch, in Kent county, and stayed over Sunday with Thomas Hudson. His son A. E. Hudson has a few pens of red foxes, the old ones and five young ones. The young ones appeared in the yard out of their den about April 1, and since that time there has not been a night that a wild fox did not carry food from the forest nearby and leave it within two feet of the pen. Mr. Hudson kept account for one week and there were twenty-six rabbits, ten mice, two partridges and one squirrel. It was brought seven partridges in all, and one night brought a flying squirrel and one mouse. People could not credit this story till they came and saw for themselves. Can this record be beaten by any other wild animal?"

MODEST LITTLE BLOSSOMS

Flowers which bespeak the affection and respect of friends for the man whose eyes death had closed in eternal and dreamless slumber filled five carriages.

Orchids of exotic refinement, roses of exquisite coloring and haunting fragrance, lilies of chaste sweetness—all these and more were fashioned with all the beauty and art of which skilled workers were capable. Truly a tribute, wondrously fair, to successful, courtly and chivalrous manhood.

Yet amid all, it was an old friend who noticed the most touching tribute. From the younger son it was. Before they came, before the clergyman pronounced the final words, he had gone into the garden.

There he gathered a few modest little blossoms. Shyly and tenderly, with eyes swelled with tears, these were placed beneath the outer garment which clothed the silent figure, on the left side, beneath which a many-colored once thrived.

There the blossoms rested; there they are resting.

"Because Dad loved 'em best of all!"

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES ON FACE AND NECK

Itchy, Burning, Red and Inflamed. Came to a Head. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In One Week Face and Neck Clear.

32 Pine St., Waltham, Mass.—"My skin affection began with pimples, my face and neck being affected. They were very itchy and burning, red and inflamed. The pimples came to a head. I scratched them until they became irritated. This breaking out was very unsightly.

"I put on — and — but they did not prove successful. My trouble lasted one year. I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement so sent for some. In one week they made my face and neck clear as if there was never a pimple on them." (Signed) Walter Murphy, April 2, 1914.

JOURNEYS NEAR HOME

Little Journeys near home! Have you ever taken them? What one sees depends not upon distances, but upon the state of the mind. Europe may be just around the corner to those who are seeking foreign travel.

They visited Windham Centre, West Windham, Canobie Lake station, Salem Depot, Salem Centre, Rockingham park, Canobie Lake park, Felham Centre and nearby points. Their route ran past the magnificent Seaboard estate in Windham. This place is worth rolling far to see. It is seldom one has in this country of ours an opportunity to see so large a tract of land enclosed by massive walls. One could easily imagine himself transported to China and in the most workmanlike manner and are evidently designed to fence out the public, judging from their height and thickness, and only lack the watch towers and sentinels to give it the effect of a fortified place.

Mr. Seaboard's estate, built at enormous expense, stands out in bold relief, its frowning battlements crowning historic Jenny's hill. The owner some time since, having purchased Granite State grove, the well-known summer picnic grounds, has wired them in with stone walls and wire fencing. Several strands of barbed wire twisted together are stretched above this. It has been said that Mr. Seaboard attempted to purchase Canobie Lake park, but the owners refused to sell. If he had succeeded, no doubt this, too, would have been enclosed for a private park. Some day probably the castle and its lofty walls will become a noted ruin and our hand will not then lack what it now in its newness does not greatly miss.

IF I KNEW

If I knew the box where the smiles were kept,
No matter how large the key
Or strong the bolt, I would try so hard
"Would open, I know, for me.
Then, over the land and the sea,
I'd scatter the smiles to play.
So that careworn people might hold them fast
For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large enough
To hold all the frowns I meet,
I would like to gather them, every one,
From nursery, school and street;
Then, folding and holding, I'd pack them in,
And, turning the monster key,
I'd hire a giant to drop the box
To the depths of the deep, deep sea.

HIS RESIGNATION

The resignation of Huerta will be the achievement of the purpose declared by the Wilson administration more than a year ago.

Huerta will be eliminated. Apparently it is a long way from getting rid of Huerta to getting established a government that will be so stable and efficient that foreigners will return and resume the old volume of business—Leviston Sun.

TRIAL MARRIAGE

The case of a sometime member of the livelier social set at Newport, to whom the Rhode Island supreme court gave a while-you-wait divorce last week, is another good illustration of the growing popularity of trial marriage in this country and of the ease with which it can be practiced under the laws and the court methods of some of the states, such as Nevada and Rhode Island.—Providence Tribune.

The $225,000 loan order for the construction and establishment of a system and plant at the boulevard for the purpose of purifying the water supply was read at the regular meeting of the municipal council this forenoon and assigned for a hearing one week from today at 5 p. m.

The council, on recommendation of the mayor, voted to allow police officers and patrolmen one day off in every 15 without loss of pay and in addition to their annual vacation of two weeks.

The meeting was called to order at 11:47 with all members present. The petition of Michael J. Dowd for a commission to be a police officer was read by the mayor who said that the board accompanying the petition had been properly certified to by the city solicitor. The loan was accepted and the petition granted.

The petition of John A. Weinberg for a gasoline license was referred to the commissioner of water works and fire protection.

Dr. Frederick McNault had a garage petition before the board. The doctor was present and explained that he had been ordered to make certain changes in his garage and that the necessary changes had been made. His petition was granted.

$2000 for Textile School
The order appropriating $2000 for evening instruction of residents of Lowell at the Lowell Textile school was adopted.

The petition of H. H. Sumner for a garage was assigned for hearing July 14 at 11 a. m. Many minor petitions for pole locations, wire attachments, etc., were properly referred.

A bill by Michael J. Maguire for injury to property at 251 Westworth avenue for water pipe trouble was referred to the city solicitor, as were claims for personal injuries presented by John Harkins and Joseph C. McCarron.

An order having to do with the filling of the streets was adopted. In the beginning of the year it was thought that the assessment for street watering would cover the filling and that no order specifying would be necessary, but the city solicitor opined

An Unfailing Way to Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)
Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

A REFUTATION

In connection with an article on street paving which appeared in the edition of a local Sunday paper dated July 12, 1914, a certain part of a paragraph of said story contained a reference to the street trouble which "Fred" Tuttle, the prominent dealer, was put to through the bulldozing and delay in the finishing of the paving of Davis street. In being forced, according to the story to cart his goods from the other side of the broad square. This statement, the information of which I cannot account for, owing to the fact that neither myself nor my employees were approached for any information about the alleged street trouble and that the paving of the street in front of my establishment had thrust upon us, places me in a defensive position.

Having no intention of doing anyone a wrong, I wish to disclaim whatever authority for the statement, which the general public may attribute to me.

From the day that the men in the city's employ started working in Davis square and produce coming into or leaving my store has been delivered to within five yards of the door of my building, via Thonahale street.

But forgetting for the moment the "carting of produce" portion of the item, I wish to say that on July 12, 1914, I purchased the provision business which up to that time had been conducted by Fred Tuttle, and I have from that day been the sole owner of the business.

FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

BESSIE J. WAKEFIELD PLACED ON TRIAL FOR THE SECOND TIME

NEW HAVEN, July 14.—Bessie J. Wakefield was placed on trial for a second time today under an indictment for murder in the first degree in causing the death of her husband, William O. Wakefield at Cheshire on June 23, 1909. At the first trial the woman was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. Upon an appeal the execution was stayed and a new trial was granted on an error. James Plew, who actually killed Wakefield, was convicted of murder in a separate trial and hanged. The state alleged in the first trial of Mrs. Wakefield that the woman was the master mind in the plot to kill Wakefield. She obtained a new trial chiefly upon the contention that evidence was admitted which had to do with Plew's acts.

TRUCK AND AUTO CRASH

An automobile collision between a delivery truck owned by the Stanley Coal & Transportation Co. and a touring car, the property of Charles E. Watt of this city occurred at the junction of Merrimack and Hanover streets this noon, but fortunately no one was injured.

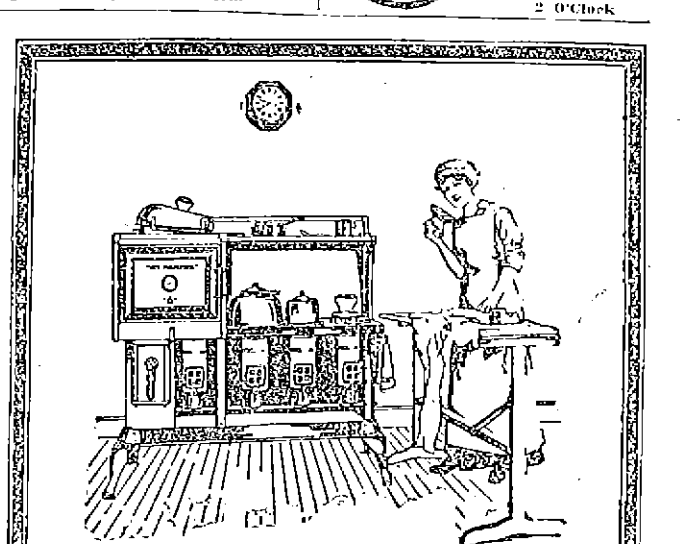

The Stanley car, which was in charge of Abraham Grondin, was being driven out of Hanover street into Merrimack street at a moderate rate of speed, while the touring car was headed up Merrimack street toward Pawlucket street and some of the witnesses of the accident say the machine was going at a high rate of speed. Mr. Watt, who was at the wheel saw a collision was unavoidable when he reached the corner of Hanover street and he quickly steered his car to the left and onto the electric car tracks. Just in time to strike the automobile in the side, breaking the mud guard and the running board. The touring car had both headlights broken. Both machines were able to continue their journey.

Most of the victims were bathing when they met their death. The girls waded out beyond their depth, and a young man swimming with a 10-year-old boy on his back in the Merrimack river at Haverhill was seized with cramps and both went to the bottom.

$1000 REWARD FOR BODY

BROTHER OF LOUIS MARGOLIN, WHO IS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN DROWNED, MAKES OFFER

FRESNO, Cal., July 15.—A heavy brown woolen shirt, water soaked, mud stained and torn to shreds, was dragged from Dickey creek near North Fork, 60 miles northeast of Fresno, yesterday. The shirt is the one worn by Louis Margolin, chief forest inspector of the Sierras, when he disappeared while making a trip across the Sierras June 15. The condition of the shirt gave rise to the theory that Margolin fell from a footlog just over the hole from which the shirt was recovered, struck on a rock and plunged unconscious into the creek. His brother, in New York has offered $1000 reward for his body.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Sullivan.
The many friends of Mr. and Mrs.
R. D. Bradley, formerly of Rock street, this city, will be glad to learn of the death of their son at Palmer, Mass.
Burial will be in Lowell. Funeral notice later.

The store of the New England Electrical & Supply company at 62 Central street was broken into a few days ago, according to the police, and electrical goods valued at about $10 stolen. Entrance was gained by breaking the plate glass in the rear of the store. It is believed that the break was the work of boys.

The committee in charge of the Grocers and Butchers' association's annual outing which will be held at Nahant beach tomorrow held their last meeting last night and completed all arrangements for the event. It is believed that the affair will be the most successful in the history of the organization, for tickets are going rapidly and all that is needed now is ideal weather. Special cars will leave Palace street at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow and the members of the committee wearing badges will be on the spot to see that there is no crowding on the cars.

Frederick T. Wilson, former proprietor of a variety store at 269 Branch street, came to Lowell yesterday, from Newark, N. J., for a brief visit. Mr.
Wilson left Lowell last January, after selling his store, and he has done considerable travelling since that time. He left his automobile behind when he went away and he came back yesterday to get it. Mr. Wilson's Lowell friends are legion and inasmuch as he admits that he has not decided on a permanent location they hope that he may return to this city. He was always a great Lowell rooter and he says the old place looks just as good to him as ever.

WOUNDED MEXICAN FEDERAL HID AMONG DEAD
COMPANIONS HOPING TO ESCAPE WHEN BURIED

1 CART LOAD OF DEAD SOLDIERS AT ZACATECAS; 2-VILLA'S TROOPS LEAVING SALTILLO FOR SAN LUIS POTOSI. (By AP ASSOCIATION)

These new pictures are among the latest from the heart of the war in Mexico. One of them was taken after the battle of Zacatecas and shows a cart filled with bodies of dead soldiers killed in the battle. When the order was given to cart the bodies away and burn them a federal soldier who was wounded and who was feigning that he was dead leaped up and surrendered. He thought he could escape after being covered with a foot of earth, but he knew he had no chance when he heard that the bodies were to be burned. He was lined up against a wall and shot dead for trying the trick. The other picture shows rebels about to leave Saltillo for the attack on San Luis Potosi, where the next big battle is expected.

BIG MEETING OF O. M. I. CADETS

Greeted Rev. Fr. Sullivan at the School Hall
Last Evening

Annual Encampment to Be Held at Milligan's Grove

MAJOR FRANCIS HAGGERTY

It was indeed a happy gathering last evening when 200 or more young men, members and past members of the O.
M. I. Cadets, met in the immaculate Conception school hall and listened to the gladsonic words from their spiritual director, that there should be another one of the celebrated encampments for which the O. M. I. Cadets are noted in all parts of New England. It had been announced in the daily papers that there would be a meeting last evening, and the prompt response of the boys must have brought joy to the heart of Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., who has seen the boys but once since his return from the far west. After a few words of greeting, Fr. Sullivan asked the boys who intended to go to camp this year to stand up, and there was not a single boy left in his seat.
Then it was that the date of the encampment, which will take place Aug.
14 at Milligan's grove, was announced.
Fr. Sullivan then told the Cadets about his trip which took him away from the "boys he loved so well," as he expressed it. He was gone for two months. He told them about the society called the Legion of the Cross, of San Francisco, which has a membership of about 1100 boys, whose ages range all the way up from 12 to 22 years. Their drills, dances and the encampment, which was held in Santa Barbara, while he was on the western coast, were all described to the boys, who thought that this organization was really wonderful until Fr. Sullivan said that it couldn't for a minute be compared with the O. M. I. Cadets. This brought about much handclapping and cheers for the reverend gentleman. He also told the boys that he hadn't given the matter of going to camp a thought until he received letters only last week from young men in the O. M. I. Cadets who had heard of the O. M. I. Cadets encampment, asking if he wouldn't send on information and rates regarding the camp. Another letter was received soon after from a young man in San Francisco, saying that he would be in Massachusetts the entire month of August and asking if he wouldn't be allowed to attend camp. He told them that this annual encampment entailed a whole lot of expense but if they would get together and help him out he would go more than half way with

TEAMSTERS STILL OUT NO BREAK IN STRIKE

Coal Dealers Waited in Vain for Men to Return This Morning— Situation Now More Strained Than Ever—Dealers Hire New Men and Resume Delivery

The members of Coal Teamsters union, local 12, met in their rooms in Central street last evening, and it must be said that it was some meeting. From the minute that President J. J. J. opened the meeting, it was full of life. Business of much importance was transacted and it is reported that one new application for membership was received. Yesterday the members received their benefits, and they were indeed a happy lot last evening. When the question as to whether or not they should return to work came up the members voted almost to a man to hold out. Many speeches were made by the members, all having to do with the strike situation. These speeches, whatever they contained, elicited much applause from the members. It was hinted that a tie-up in a large industry would be effected soon. Indeed, it was said that it might occur today. One of the members when questioned by a Sun reporter as to the men on the Gorham street job joining in and helping the teamsters in their present difficulty, replied that this information would be known soon enough. The fact that they would lose their positions if they refused to return to work today didn't seem to trouble them.

None Went to Work

The teamsters lived up to their declaration made last night that they would not return to work and none went back to their old jobs this morning. All members of the Teamsters' union gathered in their hall in Central street at 9 o'clock this morning and listened to words of advice from their officers. The teamsters will now wait for some move on the part of the dealers.

Regarding a statement in a local paper saying that the members of the local union applied for assistance in carrying on the strike, President Fennell said: "This statement is entirely false. I cannot understand from what source it came. The teamsters of this city have never applied for assistance outside of this city. As for the Boston union, we have nothing whatsoever to do with them."

Immediately after a meeting was called, and a list of routine business was transacted. It was noticed at the meeting that quite a few of the members were absent, but this was explained by the president, who told the members that the absent brothers were working on other positions, having accepted employment this morning.

What Dealer Says

A local coal dealer said he and the others would now proceed to hire men and do business as they had been idle long enough, while the men with motor trucks were doing the business of the city.

HEARING TO PUTNAM ON MORSE'S CHARGES

Opened Today Before the Municipal Council With City Solicitor Conducting Case — F. E. Dunbar is Fighting Hard for Supt. Putnam

The gallery was filled to overflowing and every seat in the aldermanic chamber was taken at city hall today when the hearing on the charges accompanying the order of Alderman Charles J. Morse for the removal of Newell F. Putnam as superintendent of streets was begun. Mayor Murphy declared the hearing open at 10:25.

Mr. Dunbar called for the reading of the city solicitor's answer to the respondent's motion for specifications. The mayor read the answer and Mr. Dunbar then moved that there be expunged, charges numbered 2, 3, 4 and 5, because the acts referred to therein occurred prior to the respondent's election to the office of superintendent of streets.

Mr. Dunbar said the motion was of piles in 1911 without the formality of a requisition?

"I do not."

"How did you come to buy supplies from Good Roads Machinery company, or the New England Road Machinery company?"

"A representative came here and asked me to try out a machine. He said if it wasn't satisfactory I could return it. It was a street cleaner and I tried it out in the square. I liked it and, through Purchasing Agent Foye ordered half a dozen machines. I put in a requisition a little later. An extra half dozen arrived that I didn't know anything about. Mr. Foye asked me if I could use them and I said I could."

"Do you know when you bought the sample street cleaner for $20?"

"The first of the year."

"When did you buy the six?"

"Shortly after."

"You purchased a second hand drill from the same company?"

"Without a requisition?"

"Yes."

"Isn't that irregular?"

"Yes, but sometimes necessary."

"You made four distinct purchases from this company, without requisitions?"

"No, sir."

"Where are the requisitions?"

"I think I can find them."

"Now, what about the Good Roads company. You made purchases from them?"

"Yes."

"What were they?"

"I bought a steel guy. One of our guys broke and I telephoned to Boston."

"Did you send any requisition?"

"I think not."

"You know J. Walter Bowers?"

"I do."

"You made a contract with him for sand and gravel in exchange for manure produced at the city stables?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever take any sand or gravel from him?"

"No."

"Did you buy any sand or gravel in 1913?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"I don't know."

"$500 worth?"

"I think not."

"Where did you get the sand you had on hand in 1913?"

"From the city farm."

"Did you buy sand and gravel from Connor Bros?"

"Yes."

"Where did you use it?"

"On Plain street."

"More convenient to get it from there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you receive any sand from Mr. Bowers in 1912?"

"Yes, considerable of it."

"What was the price of 3-inch paving blocks in 1910?"

"About $50 or $52."

"What was the price in 1910 for 4-inch paving blocks?"

"We didn't buy them by the thousand. We paid for them by the yard as they were delivered."

"Can 3-inch blocks be cut to financial benefit or advantage by the city?"

"I wouldn't be surprised."

"How great would be the advantage?"

"I do not know."

"How many blocks did you have left in 1911 after you sold 600,000 of them?"

"About 200,000."

"And then you started re-cutting old blocks?"

"Yes."

"Where did you buy them?"

"In Alken street."

"How many did you cut in 1911?"

"Couldn't tell off-hand."

"When again did you do any cutting?"

"In 1912, we did considerable re-cutting and again in 1913."

"Did you find that to be advantageous to the city?"

"Yes."

"You haven't any 3-inch blocks on hand now?"

"Yes, at the Fletcher street livery and in Newhall street."

"Do you know what your appropriation was for paving in 1910?"

"Couldn't say off-hand."

"You had a transaction with the Boston & Northern street railway company in 1910?"

"If you mean paving blocks, that contract or transaction came through the purchasing agent's office."

"Did Mr. Lees ask you for paving blocks?"

"Possibly he did."

"What talk did you have with Mr. Lees relative to obtaining $150 worth of supplies in exchange for paving blocks?"

"I cannot recall the exact conversation. I asked him if he would pay some of the street department bills in return for the blocks."

"Why didn't you write your requisition that way?"

"Mr. Putnam then spoke of a conversation he had had with the then purchasing agent, now dead, and the then mayor, John F. Meahan."

Mr. Dunbar objected to Mr. Hennessy laying emphasis upon the fact that he then purchasing agent has since died, and said: "The then mayor is living, and present."

Mr. Hennessy said he did not emphasize any part of his remarks, and Mr. Dunbar retorted that if there was to be any emphasizing it must be done all along the line.

Mr. Hennessy then took up the matter of the purchase of tarvia from the Barrett Mfg. Co.

"Do you know if you purchased any of the supplies that the Boston & Northern street railway paid for?"

"I don't remember."

"Why did you sell some paving blocks for $27 a thousand and others for $9 a thousand?"

"The 18 blocks were cut blocks— blocks that were thrown out by the pavers."

"Is there any record showing the number of blocks disposed of by the city of Lowell in 1910 and 1911?"

"I think there is a record showing the number and to whom sold."

GYPSIES DRIVEN OUT OF LOWELL BY POLICE

Party Who Arrived Here This Morning and Attempted to Pitch Their Tents on First Street Ordered to Leave by Sergt. Maguire

A band of gypsies came to Lowell this forenoon, where they intended camping for a few days, but unfortunately they were not given a chance to rest their horses, for Sergt. Hugh Maguire who spotted them at Merrimack square headed them off at their usual stopping place at the head of First street on land owned by the Locks & Canals Co. and ordered them to keep right on. The men in the party at first showed resistance, but when they saw that the police officer meant business, they thought it was best for them to proceed and after grumbling away for a few minutes the horses were started again.

The party which consisted of five large wagons of the gypsy type, containing five men, as many women and about a dozen children, with two horses attached to each wagon and two ponies, went through Merrimack square shortly after 10:30 o'clock. Sergt. Maguire who was then talking with a Sun reporter, spotted them and he immediately boarded a car with the writer and Patrolman Ganley and the trio alighted at the head of First street, where they were sure the party would stop. A few minutes later the five wagons made a stop at the entrance to the land of the Locks & Canals Co., near the car shed and the men in charge attempted to lead their horses through the driveway, but Sergt. Maguire warned them not to trespass.

Of course the gypsies wanted an explanation for they stated they had camped there on previous occasions without being molested and they could not see why they were being stopped this year. The leader of the gang who could speak little English stated the party came all the way from Ayer Junction and their horses were in need of a rest, but this did not change the mind of the officers who informed them they could under no condition camp in the city of Lowell.

Interviewed by the writer, the leader said the party was composed of his father, mother, sisters and brothers as well as cousins and their children. He said they were on their way to Portland, Me., and they intended to make another stop at Newburyport. He stated his horses needed shoeing and he wanted to know if a blacksmith could not be located in that district. He informed Sergt. Maguire that the men were all citizens of the United States and they had as much right to camp where they pleased as the sergeant had to walk the streets of Lowell. "We are not murderers," he continued, "and all we want is a rest before we undertake the long travel to Portland. We have a lot of fancy work of all descriptions we will sell cheap to your people and if you will allow us to camp here for a couple of days you will never regret it."

Sergeant Maguire informed the party they were not wanted by the owners of the land, and it did not matter whether they were murderers or law-abiding citizens they could not pitch their tents in Lowell, and that settled it. The men inquired how far they would have to travel before they could rest and they were told to get out of Lowell.

The men, women and children again boarded their wagons and started in the direction of Belle Grove, but again they were stopped by the officers. Charles A. Foye of Dracut saw them coming and he was soon on the job. The officer politely informed them they could not stop in Dracut and threatened them with arrest if they disobeyed his orders, and inasmuch as gypsies have no love for judges or court officers, they kept right on, and chances are that they were given the same reception in Lawrence, for on many previous occasions the officers of the down-river city have ordered similar gangs out of their city.

The mayor allowed the question and Mr. Putnam said that Mr. Morse had opposed him for office three times.

"In 1913 did you present a statement or requisition relative to the city manure contracted for by J. Walter Bowers?"

"I did."

Mr. Dunbar then presented the requisition, it was recognized by Mr. Putnam and read by Mr. Dunbar. The requisition was then marked "exhibit D."

Mr. Dunbar then read the contract between the city and Mr. Bowers. The contract embodied the proposals and Mr. Dunbar picked holes in some of the proposals because they didn't agree with the requisition. The contract was marked "exhibit C."

"Did Mr. Bowers haul manure from the city stable in 1913?"

"He did."

"Did you get any sand from him that year?"

"No, I did not. We were going to get sand then for the Plain street job but it was concluded on all sides, that it would be cheaper to buy it from the Connors Bros."

"Can you tell me the name of the foreman who suggested to you and the then commissioner of streets and highways, Mr. Donnelly, that it would be cheaper to take sand from the Connors Bros?"

"Mr. Blessington."

Mr. Dunbar then asked Mr. Putnam about getting hay from Mr. Bowers. The latter said Mr. Bowers delivered a load of hay, although hay was not mentioned in the contract. Mr. Putnam also said that Mr. Bowers was willing to have the city take enough sand this year to make up for what the city didn't take last year.

Mr. Putnam said that Mr. Bowers was still taking manure from the city yard and by permission of Mr. Morse.

"What was the market value of all the manure taken by Mr. Bowers in 1913?" asked Mr. Dunbar.

"I should say about $250," replied Mr. Putnam.

Mr. Dunbar then took up the matter of the sale of paving blocks to the street railway company and read the requisition as filed with the purchasing agent.

"At some time did you have a conversation with the purchasing agent, the mayor and somebody else?" asked Mr. Dunbar.

"I did," replied Mr. Putnam, "on more than one occasion. It was all agreed that the street railway should pay for material used by the street department."

"That agreement had the approval of the mayor and city solicitor?"

"It did."

"The blocks were delivered?"

"They were."

"When was the first Hassam paving laid?"

"In 1907."

"Who was superintendent of streets at that time?"

"Charles J. Morse."

"What kind of blocks were used by Mr. Morse in paving Central and Middlesex streets?"

"New blocks."

ferred in keeping with the mayor's ruling in the case of Commissioner Brown, the assessors of taxes; the mayor at that time excluding all evidence offered prior to the election by the municipal council of the respondents.

Motion Overruled

City Solicitor Hennessy said that the present case was entirely different to the case of the assessors, and declared that charge six depended in a great extent upon the other five charges.

Mayor Murphy denied the motion and Mr. Dunbar spoke again. He said that the present case was exactly a parallel case with that of the assessors and he asked that the same ruling be meted out to Mr. Putnam as was extended the assessors. Mr. Dunbar filed exceptions.

Mr. Hennessy then called upon Mr. Putnam for the purpose of examination.

"What are the duties of superintendent of streets?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"They are varied," answered Mr. Putnam.

"Besides being surveyor of highways, what are his duties?"

FUNERAL OF FIVE VICTIMS

Girls Who Were Killed at East Rochester Crossing Buried—Business Suspended

EAST ROCHESTER, N. H., July 15.—The closing scene in one of the most heart-breaking events in New England's history, the funeral of the five victims of the East Rochester crossing, was held yesterday afternoon when the funeral of five of the six victims took place at the Free Baptist church.

Business was suspended throughout the village and more than two hundred at the church, the largest open space in town, crowded into the street. The stage and stumps behind at half staff in the village square.

The bodies of the five girls, three of whom were members of the church, rested in white caskets in front of the pulpit platform. They were almost hidden in flowers, and conspicuously placed on each casket was a wreath of roses, surmounted by a white dove in flight.

The services began at 2 o'clock with the singing of "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" by a quartet composed of Arthur N. Brooks, Irving C. Jordan, Dr. Frank E. Whitney and William Adams.

Rev. E. J. Canfield of the Methodist church gave a scripture reading, followed by prayer by Pastor John J. Parsons of the Advent church. After an address by the pastor, Rev. Charles G. Tupper, pastor of the church, pronounced the eulogy.

"I am nearly broken hearted," he began, "over the loss of these five bright young girls of my parish. Here we have a tragedy so deeply moved that moments passed before we were able to proceed, and sobbings arose from all over the audience."

After prayer by Mr. Tupper, Rev. Frank S. Hurlley of the Rochester Free Baptist church performed the committal service and the quartet sang "Some Time We'll Understand."

Four of the caskets were opened and the crows filed slowly past the dead. During the removal of the caskets from the church one woman mourner fainted.

Supt. of Schools E. A. Thayer, the teachers and girl schoolmates escorted the bodies to Cold Spring cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blodgett were so overcome that they made their way with difficulty from the church to their carriage. Behind came their remaining daughter, supported by her brother.

PICTURES TAKEN DURING AND JUST AFTER BATTLE OF ZACATECAS; CAUSE AND EFFECT OF CANNONADING

These pictures were taken during and after the battle of Zacatecas. One of them shows rebel artillery in action hurling shot at the federal fortifications on the hills surrounding the city. The marksmanship of the rebel gunners was far superior to that of the federals. The other picture shows a scene in one of the streets after the fighting ceased and the rebels had taken possession of the city. Dead bodies were strewn all over.

BOSTON, July 15.—It is the intention of Gov. Walsh to obtain within a few days information which will show just what part of the $2,000,000 originally appropriated for the development of the port of Boston has been expended, how much will be needed for the work now under way and what surplus, if any, is likely to be available for the new board of port directors. The governor has chosen his own expert and will not be governed by the statements furnished by the retiring board members.

There is now pending before the governor and executive council the question of approving contracts for the construction of the proposed drydock, the construction of a pier in East Boston and several other contracts.

A majority of the retiring board, Gen. Hugh Bagley, Admiral Francis T. Bowler and William E. Fitzgerald, has stated that all of the proposed improvements, including the dry dock and pier, can be completed within the $2,000,000 and still leave a surplus of $112,000.

Joseph A. Conry and William S. Mc-

Nary, constituting a minority, told the executive council more than a week ago that the projected improvements not only would consume all of the original $2,000,000, but would compel the new directors to come to the legislature for more funds with which to complete the work.

The governor is determined to get at the facts for himself. Impressed by the lack of harmony among the members of the present board, he is looking about for three men to constitute the new board of port directors, who will constitute a working unit, and whose opinions and recommendations will carry weight with the members of the executive council and the legislature.

MAYOR JOHN F. HURLEY

Sends Letter to Sam Hill Thanking Him for the Banquet Presented at Cricket Grounds

The following letter from Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem to Mr. Sam Hill of the Hunting club is self-explanatory:

Salem, July 13, 1914.
Mr. Sam Hill, Lowell, Mass.
My Dear Mr. Hill: I wish to express to you my appreciation for the beautiful banquet which you presented me at the Hunting grounds on Saturday. I have been in many places, and have always been treated courteously, but never as nicely as I was treated Saturday by the members of your club, and the city government of Lowell. I shall always remember that day as one of the pleasant incidents of my life.

Thanking you once more for your kindness, I am,
Yours respectfully,
John F. Hurley, Mayor.

LADY LOOKABOUT

I imagine there was great rejoicing in the camps of the anti-suffragists when they learned of the answer given the suffragists by President Wilson last week in Washington. The evasiveness of the reply, which the president intended should be non-committal, misled no one, and Mr. Wilson has placed himself on record as being opposed to the enfranchisement of women just as surely and just as irrevocably as if he had shouted it from every housetop in the land. Down deep in his heart, I believe the president favors equal suffrage, as does every thinking person, but he feels that he cannot speak as an individual, instead only as the leader of a great political party. This is unfortunate, good politics though it may be. The president should feel at liberty to suddenly to express his personal opinion on any subject, after mature reflection, even though the subject were not endorsed as a plank in his party platform. While we may agree with him that equal suffrage is something to be settled individually by the states rather than by amendment to the federal constitution, we cannot help contrasting his stand with that of Abraham Lincoln when he did not hesitate in 1862 to propose the thirteenth amendment to Congress for abolishing slavery in the limits of the United States. This, when ratified by three-fourths of the states, became a part of the federal constitution, notwithstanding the fact that the several states had disposed of the question to their individual satisfaction long before. The cases may not be exactly parallel, but the same principle underlies both.

Had the suffragists waited on Lincoln in Washington last week, instead of on Wilson, there is no doubt they would have come away knowing just how the chief executive of the land stood on the question. It would have been either one way or another,—no evading, and I know it would have been favorable to suffrage, for as far back as 1838, in a letter published in the Langdon Journal, he expressed his opinion on universal suffrage in these words: "I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burdens; consequently, I go for admitting all to the rights of suffrage who are free and have arms by no means excluding females."

Skill in Advertising
From time to time as I skim over the advertising sections of magazines, periodicals and newspapers, the thought comes to me: the writers of these advertisements are schooled in their line of work; they draw large salaries; I wonder if they currently gauge the mental calibre of the reading public when the only way they seem to be able to draw attention to their messages is by making an appeal to the eyes. I imagine they feel that if they can catch the eye, the rest is easy. However, I cannot help feeling that a logically written statement, describing the goods to be sold, and all the particulars pertaining thereto, making its appeal to reason, would be far more effective than the present methods. Time was, and not so very long ago, when charlatans and fakirs of all kinds used the periodical as a vehicle for placing before the public goods of little or no merit. "Don't miss this opportunity," they would cry, "to get the result shown in the two and a half pictures at my day after day when we unfold our newspaper."

Of late years, owing to strict legislation in regard to the purity of foods and foodstuff preparations generally, and owing also, in part, to the refusal of respectable sheets to advertise fake goods and unreliable concerns, advertising has risen to a dignity unknown to it in former years. Still the change of printer's ink greets us, but a glare of intellect in hand. Then the advertisement will appear in the newspaper or magazine just as any other news, making its appeal to the reason and judgment of its readers through the merit of the goods it advertises, rather than by tricks to attract the attention.

Educational Spasmodics
I think the annual convention of the National Educational association, held in St. Louis last week, must have been somewhat out of the ordinary in point of,—dare I say it in connection with such an august body?—levity. Just imagine our own Mr. Snedden winking hot on the subject of women's dress. And picture the superintendent of schools of Los Angeles shouting that algebra had ruined the souls of many girls! And his remarks were received with great applause. I am curious to know whether the applause came from the men present, or from the women.

Another feature of the convention was the adoption of equal suffrage. Teachers believe strongly in equal pay for both men and women who do the same work. It is a contention which cannot be gainsaid and which is gaining great headway. In New York men and women teachers doing similar work receive equal compensation.

GRIPPLE LEAPS OFF TRAIN

LANE PRISONER DROPPED CHUTE AND ESCAPED—NATICK CHIEF HELPLESS

BOSTON, July 15.—Unable to give chase, because he happened to have two other men handcuffed to his wrists, Chief Hiram Brown of the Natick police force was forced to see a third prisoner, a lame man carrying a crutch, escape from his custody on an inward bound train at the Faneuil station yesterday afternoon.

The escaped prisoner is Burton Stevenson, aged 40, and he is still at large. Chief Brown was conveying the three men to the East Cambridge jail. He took the precaution of handcuffing two of the men to his wrist, but taking Stevenson's lameness into consideration, he put no twist on his wrist.

Everything went well until the train began to pull out of the Faneuil station, when Stevenson got up from his seat and quickly hobbled to the platform and jumped off. In spite of the fact that he is suffering from a serious injury to his right foot, he threw his crutch away. This was found later.

Chief Brown was powerless to give chase with the other men tied to him. He continued on to the station in Brighton and then telephoned word to the police at station 14.

Officers were immediately sent to Faneuil but found no trace of Stevenson. The missing prisoner weighs about 170 pounds and has a black mustache.

NO SUNDAY GAME FOR SALEM

Mayor Cutler Notifies Mayor Hurley
That Only Sacred Concerts Are Permitted on the Lord's Day

BOSTON, July 15.—Mayor Cutler sent a letter to Mayor Hurley of Salem last night informing him that, in the opinion of Corporation Counsel Sullivan, the game of baseball proposed for Sunday on Fenway park for the benefit of the Salem soldiers cannot be played for the reason that the only entertainments permitted on the Lord's day are sacred concerts.

PAINS AROUND THE HEART

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force, the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart disease rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation. With this blood and weak nerves it is impossible to avoid stomach trouble. Build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and note the increased appetite, the comfortable feeling after eating and the improvement in health and vigor.

Two books "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say, I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Tait, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

WAS SCALDED TO DEATH

Claimed That Insane Patient at Taunton Was Burned in Bath Tub—Inquest Owing to Report

TAUNTON, July 15.—An inquest into the death of Mrs. George M. Gifford of Brockton, a patient at the Taunton Insane hospital, was held before Judge Austin yesterday as a result of the report of Medical Examiner Atwood that death resulted from burns from water while she was being given a bath. Mrs. Gifford was admitted to the hospital May 29 and the bath was given the next day. She had been in the bath about half an hour when it was discovered that an excess of hot water was running into the tub. She died at the hospital June 9.

Judge Austin reserved his decision. Miss Mary J. Smith, who, with Miss Jonnie Schaffel, was in charge of the bathroom, testified she drew the bath for Mrs. Gifford. The mixture of hot and cold water was tested at 85 degrees by Miss Ferguson, in charge of the ward.

Miss Smith said she closed all the valves lightly, stayed in the bathroom 20 minutes and went to breakfast. Miss Nora Walsh testified that when she came on duty a few minutes after 7 o'clock and noticed steam coming from the hot water valve she shut it off. The hot water valve was open half a turn. She notified Mrs. Margaret Hyer, a supervisor, and Miss Ferguson, and they took Mrs. Gifford from the tub and put her to bed. Mrs. Hyer said that Miss Smith drew the water for the bath at 6:40 o'clock under orders, that Miss Smith told her the valves were secure and that she saw Miss Smith try them. Then Miss Walsh reported that the steam was escaping from the tub and she thought that the valve had not been sufficiently turned off.

Miss Margaret Ferguson, in charge of the bathroom, said that she tried the bath with her hand, as the thermometer was out of order, and found it of the right temperature. She saw Miss Smith turn off the valves.

Dr. Grace G. Ripley of the hospital staff found Mrs. Gifford had burns on her back and neck, right arm to elbow and right foot. They were believed to be superficial at first, but increased in short time. She was delirious at first, but the delirium abated and she was more comfortable for several days. There was no marked change until death. The tub had been used continuously and no part was out of order. The engineer had examined it and reported it in perfect order.

Dr. Arthur V. Goss, superintendent of the hospital, described the continuous bath-treatment which had been in use at the hospital for two years. He also described the valve by which the tub was filled and said they could not be turned by the patient.

WENDELL YOUNGSTER STRAYED OFF WHILE ON BERRYING TRIP—GLAD TO GET HOME AGAIN

WENDELL, July 15.—Following an all-night search by some 15 men, little Hermon King, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry King, was found sound asleep in a swamp here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by Frank Ballou.

The little fellow went blueberrying Monday morning with his sister. While she went after her horse, which had strayed down the road, Hermon also strayed away.

When the girl returned and missed her brother, she searched for some time and then notified people living in the vicinity.

Mr. Ballou found the youngster about three-quarters of a mile from the Ballou berry pasture. He was none the worse for his night's exposure, but pleased to get home.

SHAMROCK IV READY

LIPTON CHALLENGER FOR AMERICA'S CUP WILL DEPART FOR U. S. ON JULY 18

GOSPORT, England, July 15.—Everything is ready for the departure on July 18 for the United States of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup. Her compasses have been adjusted, her keel rig fitted and the steam yacht Erin, also belonging to Sir Thomas, is waiting to convey her across the Atlantic.

"The Shamrock IV has done all that has been asked of her," is the final word of Charles E. Nicholson, the designer. He admits, however, that the trial boat was in no way satisfactory as the type of opponent which would enable yachtsmen accurately to gauge Shamrock IV's chances of lifting the America's cup.

Underwriters at Lloyd's are not so optimistic as Mr. Nicholson concerning Shamrock's chances. Their estimate today was, roughly, 3 to 1 against the challenger. In other words they are issuing policies at a premium of 25 per cent to pay the total loss if Shamrock IV should prove successful. A similar risk in connection with an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic during the present year is being covered at eight per cent. The crew of the Shamrock IV, numbering more than 30 men is to be divided during the voyage across, half of the sailors luxuriating on board the Erin as far as the Azores and then relieving their shipmates for the remainder of the journey.

THE ADAMSON DAM BILL

CONSIDERATION AS SOON AS APPROPRIATION BILLS ARE OUT OF JURY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—With all differences of opinion over proposed conservation legislation removed, passage of legislation on the subject at this session of congress was today believed to be assured. The resolutions embodying the legislation are the Adamson dam bill now pending in the house and the Ferris bill, to regulate water power projects on public lands. As a result a complete agreement was reached between the advocates of the two bills and when the conference broke up all parties to it predicted passage of the measures.

Consideration of the Adamson bill, it was announced today will be continued as soon as the appropriation bills are out of the way.

The conference decided to keep jurisdiction over all dams and water power sites on the public domain and those on property not in the public domain entirely separate. Minor changes were made in the Adamson bill in order that provisions thought to conflict with the Ferris bill might be made clearer and more definitely defined.

TEWKSBURY POSTMASTER

A. J. Fairgrieve Appointed—Cong.
Rogers to Speak at Andover
Testimonial

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Congressman John Jacob Rogers yesterday accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address at a public testimonial at Andover July 21 for the benefit of the mother of Maurice Welch, "the first soldier to fall in the hostilities at Vera Cruz," as the invitation put it. The testimonial will be given under the auspices of Division 6, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Andover.

Postmaster of Tewksbury
As an uncompromising republican and a consistent critic of the administration, Congressman Rogers yesterday had coals of fire heaped on his head by notice from the postoffice department that his candidate for postmaster at Tewksbury, Arthur J. Fairgrieve, had been appointed to the position. This is the first plum Mr. Rogers has picked and he expressed appreciation, if not exactly gratitude.

Merrimack River Bill
Indorsement of the rivers and harbors appropriation bill now before the senate was received yesterday by the members of the Massachusetts delegation from the Lawrence chamber of commerce, which expressed fear that congress may adjourn without passing the measure.

"We believe," said the letter, "it is to be for the interest of this country, and more particularly to our state, that the bill should become a law, not only because in most of the instances the Appropriations recommended were for the means of creating improvements needed, but also as giving employment to a great mass of our citizens."

The Massachusetts members of the house are now without power in the senate, except as they may be able to exert influence with various senators to secure the passage of the measure. The bill is under a hot fire in the senate chamber, its chief opponent being Senator Burton.

Bridge Over Merrimack River
Congressman Phelan introduced a bill yesterday to get the consent of congress for the construction of a much discussed bridge over the Merrimack river between Lawrence and Haverhill. Where rivers are navigable in more than one state the consent of congress is required for the construction of a bridge. The bill was referred to the interstate commerce committee.

Congressman Murray visited the navy department yesterday to take up with the department the situation at the Charlestown navy yard, where the chainmakers and helpers are on strike. The congressman left some material on the matter for the secretary of the navy and will see him personally when he returns to Washington.

The Port of Boston

To a little gathering of Massachusetts representatives in Rep. Rogers' office, R. L. Roberts, the new commercial agent for Boston, yesterday outlined his plans for promoting the trade and commerce of the port of Boston and of New England in general. Mr. Roberts will move to Boston about the middle of August with a clerk from the department of commerce.

His chief difficulty at present, said Mr. Roberts, was in obtaining suitable quarters for his office, Uncle Sam being insistent that this should be situated in a federal building. As far as he could learn, he said, no such quarters were available in Boston, and he feared he might not be able to accept the tender of office room from the chamber of commerce.

While this problem is being solved, Mr. Roberts proposes to get into close touch with the business, manufacturing and financial interests of Boston and New England and to ascertain through what channels his office must effectively can direct its energies. Mr. Roberts is only 27 years old, and is regarded in Washington as a "live wire."

Night Law Is Upheld
The right of the New York legislature to pass laws prohibiting women and girls from working in factories between the hours of 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. was upheld yesterday by the appellate division of the supreme court by a vote of four to one. The only dissenting vote was based on the fact that the appellate division is bound by the contrary by a decision of the court of appeals, and that if the ruling to this effect by the highest court is no longer controlling, it is for the court of appeals to say so. The law upheld by the decision yesterday is an amendment of the labor law passed last year.

The question was before the court in an appeal by the Charles Scheieler Press, Inc., which was found guilty in special sessions of employing women after 10 o'clock at night. Sentence was suspended in order that the courts might determine whether the law was in violation of the constitutional rights of the defendant and its employees as to depriving them of life, liberty and property without due process of law.

The constitutionality of the law was upheld on the broad ground that it aimed to preserve the health of women and thereby preserve the health of the race, since the chief function of women is motherhood. The opinion of Presiding Justice Ingraham points out that it is important for the welfare of the race that women have proper rest, and that it has been proved that night work is more of a drain on the human being than day work, especially in the case of women.

Presiding Justice Ingraham said:

"The law recognizes a distinction between the sexes and justifies legislative enactment for the protection of the morals of women, which have not been and are not now considered necessary in the case of men. Upon the health of women as the child bearing sex necessarily depends the future health of succeeding generations. Any occupation that tends to lower the vitality of woman and interferes with her bearing healthy children impairs the health and capacity of future generations and is a subject of the utmost public concern."

They will install over 200 sprinkler heads. The Fall River Iron Works is but one of the many industries throughout New England that has taken up humidification.

Cotton as a Disease Carrier
It is often said that smallpox and other diseases are transmitted through the agency of raw cotton. If raw cotton were the means of carrying smallpox germs the fact must have been established long before now. Cotton has been accused of carrying the germs of this dreaded disease especially, but the evidence has never been other than circumstantial and the case is the same as in the present instance. Ten persons in a cotton mill, not very far away from this city have been smitten with the disease and nine of them worked in a plectra or card room in which certain Mexican cotton has been used. The cotton accordingly gets the blame at this place, but some other sources will have to be found for two other cases occurred simultaneously 40 miles beyond this place.

We get smallpox in this country at periodic intervals of ten to 12 years, and in accordance with this theory another outbreak is about due. Its coming has been looked forward to with apprehension, for in textile districts the prejudice is strong against vaccination, and in many of them a round half of

Grand Jury Investigation Into Death of Mrs. Bailey Resumed — Maid Said Mrs. Carman Rushed Into the House After the Shot Was Fired

MINNEOLA, N. Y., July 15.—A grand jury from which two members withdrew because of friendship for the Carman family resumed today its deliberations in the case of Mrs. Florence Carman held in jail as having fired the shot which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in Dr. Carman's office at Freeport on the night of June 30. It was expected that the jury would complete its work today and that if an indictment were found it would be returned tomorrow. With the resumption of the hearing District Attorney Smith announced that he had issued a subpoena for Mrs. Ellen Corby, a niece of Mrs. Carman. It is understood that she is one of the two women who have been sought since the murder as having been in the doctor's waiting room and who fled when they heard the shot fired.

The first witness examined today was Henry Debus who testified to seeing Mrs. Bailey going to the Carman home.

Another witness was Mrs. Helen Coombs who was in the waiting room when the murder was committed. Said she shot Mrs. Bailey. Dr. Carman made public today a letter addressed to his wife, from Rochester, N. Y. The letter said he had shot Mrs. Bailey. He had done so, he said, because she was a woman. The letter was written in what was apparently a disguised handwriting and looked as if it might have been penned by a woman. It was not taken seriously. It was thought unlikely that Mrs.

Carman would be called before the jury. Her counsel had agreed to waive immunity for her but in the opinion of the district attorney it was inexpedient to have her testify.

The story of the negro maid that Mrs. Carman had on a kitchen when she saw her run into the kitchen contradicts the account of Edward Bards, heretofore the chief witness for the states. Bards said that the woman he saw had on a white waist.

Because of this clash of testimony Bards, it was said, might not be called before the grand jury.

The last witness before the jury was Frank J. Farrell, a tramp, who went to the backdoor of the Carman house on the night of June 30 to ask for food. It is understood that Farrell's story corroborated in general the account given yesterday by Celia Coleman.

More details of the story of the Carman's maid, Celia Coleman, as told to the grand jury yesterday became known today.

MAID SAYS MRS. CARMAN RUSHED THROUGH KITCHEN FROM OUTDOORS

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 15.—Celia Coleman, colored maid in the house of Dr. Edwin Carman two weeks ago when Mrs. Louise Bailey was murdered, has deserted Mrs. Carman. She told her "amplified" story to the grand jury yesterday and smashed Mrs. Carman's alibi. The girl has been in custody of Burns detectives since the crime.

In the opinion of those who have followed the case closely it spells indictment for Mrs. Florence Carman, the jealous wife of the physician, who is now locked up in Mincola jail charged with the murder of Mrs. Bailey.

The essential part of the maid's testimony, as related to the grand jury a Mincola yesterday, is that she was in the kitchen of the Carman home at the time of the shooting; that she heard the fatal shot and the commotion in the doctor's office which followed immediately after and that while she stood stock still in the kitchen, too frightened to move, Mrs. Carman came rushing in from the rear yard. Mrs. Carman was breathless and excited. The maid said she did not see any revolver, but she only saw Mrs. Carman, but spoke to her and Mrs. Carman answered.

A large delegation of young women friends of deceased, who up to a couple of weeks ago were her working companions at the Lawrence Mfg. Co.'s box shop, solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. E. J. A. Chaput. O. M. L., who also officiated at the marriage two weeks ago last Monday. He was assisted by Rev. Augustin Gratot, O. M. L., as deacon and Rev. Charles Denicot, O. M. L., this morning for burial. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Young & Blake.

NEWEST PICTURE OF DR. CARMAN

TAKING FLOWERS TO HIS WIFE IN JAIL

This is the latest picture of Dr. Edwin Carman, one of the principals in the now famous Bailey-Carman murder mystery. It was taken when the doctor visited his wife at the Mincola (N. Y.) jail, where she is held charged with the murder of Mrs. William D. Bailey, one of her husband's patients. Dr. Carman carries flowers to his wife daily and is directing the lawyers who are trying to free her. It is now over two weeks since Mrs. Bailey was shot to death in Dr. Carman's office at Freeport, N. Y., and the only arrest made is that of Mrs. Carman, who had admitted that she had spied upon her husband with a telegraph when he had women

WANTED TO KILL HIM
WOULD BE ASSASSIN SAYS MYSTIC LAY MONK HAD SHAKEN CHRISTIANITY

ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—The emperor of Russia's court physician, Professor Sergius Petrovitch Federoff and the empress's lady in waiting, Mile. Virubova started today for Tyumen, Siberia, according to the courier to attend the mystic lay monk and Imperial confidant, Gregory Rasputin, who is suffering from a wound inflicted on him by a woman who tried to kill him.

In a newspaper interview today Guzyova, the would-be assassin who is in jail, said she had long meditated killing Rasputin and thus putting an end to the awful evil wrought by him in Russia by his impostures under the guise of a prophet.

She declared he had shaken Christianity, was sowing temptation and was blasphemously making the most holy feelings of true believers and she added that "he enjoyed absolute impunity and had openly and without conscience ruled the lives of young girls."

Guzyova concluded: "I, as a simple Christian, could not suffer his abuse of the church. I wanted to kill him last year. I went to Tyumt but could not approach him, because he was so closely surrounded by aristocratic women (followers). I regret I failed to kill him. All the same he will not live. The Russian people will not endure such a disgrace."

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION
TWO YOUNG MEN FROM BROOKLYN, N. Y., BEING HELD FOR LARNEY NEAR MANCHESTER, N. H.

What may develop into a very important arrest was made by Patrolman Jerry Dooley this forenoon when he captured two young men attempting to dispose of a number of raincoats, sweaters and other clothing in a second hand store on Middlesex street. They registered as John J. Hill, 20, and Joseph Coty, 22, both of Brooklyn, N. Y.

After the men had been locked up a short time the police of Manchester, N. H., telephoned the police of this city to be on the lookout for two young men who, it is alleged, broke into young men's camps in the vicinity of the Queen city and got away with considerable camp equipment, etc. The local police believed that the description of the men who broke into the Manchester camps tallied with that of the pair who were arrested by Patrolman Dooley this forenoon and an officer from Manchester will come to this city to investigate the matter further.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

GUILTY DIRECTORS

The worst enemy of those who managed the affairs of the New Haven railroad in the days when it fell from its high position to the low level it now holds could not invent a more scathing arraignment than is contained in the bitter denunciation of the Interstate Commerce commission and the warmest apologist of the property and its alleged wreckers would look in vain through the condemnatory columns of the report for one grain of comfort. The one naked fact that stands out from an array of bitter truths is this: The New Haven directors robbed the stockholders of a sum not less than $50,000,000 and possibly as high as $100,000,000. What the robbery has meant to New England, to the stockholders, and to New England business is too well known to need any comment.

Never before in the history of American railroadings has such a charge been made by a government body, and the entire country will await the results. Without mincing the matter the commission holds several individuals guilty of robbery directly and indirectly, and the hope is held out that from the misused funds a comparatively few millions may be recovered. No one reading the report could doubt for a moment that prosecutions are intended, and test there should be any doubt of its intent the report specifically says that the uncovered evidence of mismanagement and worse has been sent to the district attorneys of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York, and also to the federal department of justice.

The report has not revealed anything that New England has not already heard many times, but for the first time it arranges the facts in their proper proportion and does away with technicality in fixing the responsibility. No real defense is possible, and it is difficult to see how any defense can be undertaken. The public must believe that the government investigation has fulfilled its purpose and the next important point is whether the matter will be allowed to fall through or whether it will finish up in the courts. "None of the directors would have been so careless," says the report. "In the handling of his own money as the evidence demonstrates they were in dealing with the money of other people."

Hereby lies food for thought. If the directors of the New Haven did as they were represented to do in this arrangement, they were directors in name only, and their influence was for evil. It is to be feared that in their negligence they were by no means exceptional. With cheerful flippancy Mr. Mollen related recently between reminiscent smiles how he and the other lesser financiers were pawns in the hands of the almighty Morgan, and throughout the country millions of money deposited by trusting investors in railroad and other stock are wholly in the hands of some czar-like chairman who dictates his disposition to a servile coterie of satellites. Apparently had Mr. Morgan taken several millions of New Haven money—and by the way, New Haven money was largely the money of poor or middle class New England people—to finance an aerial line to the moon, the nominal board of directors would have voted to support him unanimously and would have given the almost superhuman authority.

The former board of directors of the New Haven railroad may not tremble in their shoes at the thought of possible prosecution—and indeed it is probable that they laugh knowingly when no one is around—but the report of the Interstate Commerce commission must have convinced them that being a director is more than an ornamental task. It may possibly dawn on a few of them that being an unthinking director who is directed by another is criminal, and that the responsibility for wrongs done under these circumstances does not end until restitution is made to the public. Commenting on the specific case of the New Haven, the Boston Post says, pertinently:

"If there is a possibility of holding these directors, many of them men of admitted personal probity, financially responsible for the New Haven's shattered millions, those millions ought to be collected for the benefit of the stockholders. In that case it will be ungrateful for some of the eminent gentlemen pay, but their embezzlement cannot have been."

If there are any dissenting voices against this view they will not in all probability belong to those who have been reduced to poverty by the "misadministration" of the accused directors.

CODDLING OUR POLICE FORCE

Considering the present financial status of this city and calling to mind the familiar attitude of our municipal council with regard to any suggestion for an improvement involving a monetary outlay, the proposition to give members of the police department one day off in fifteen, in addition to their present two weeks' vacation with pay is nothing short of outrageous. That four members of the governing body should have voted for such a proposition is as inexplicable as it is indefensible. If there is one citizen who will believe that the protestations of the present body regarding economy were sincere, their recent action will certainly show him that his confidence is badly misplaced.

Where, outside the ranks of the police department itself, was there any call for this new and expensive municipal regulation? It comes on the city with more startling suddenness than the storm of Sunday last. Of course the police department refuses. All public employees would like days off, just as they like pensions and other things that they sometimes get when officials have not a very high sense of their responsibility. Nevertheless the expensive grant will not be approved by the great masses of Lowell people. When a far more desirable proposition than this, viz: that to give the firemen one day off in five, was proposed, Lowell threw it down unthinkingly. Luckily for the police department, if unfortunately for Lowell citizens, the demand of the police department was not submitted to the people.

Let us examine the one day off in fifteen proposition which our mayor and commissioners have just foisted on the public. It will give each member of the department 24 and one-third free days each year, which is equivalent to a financial gift of $73 for each patrolman in the service. Our park department, our school department, and other departments are suffering for lack of adequate appropriations but the police department gets a gift of about $10,000 annually merely because they or their superintendent asked for it. This makes the "economy" cry look sick surely.

If the department can afford to give each man one day off in fifteen without affecting the service, then it appears that it could get along with just one-fifteenth fewer men than are now employed. There are at present in the department 111 patrolmen, 16 "sneaps" and 27 superior officers—154 in all. One-fifteenth of that number, 10 round numbers would be ten and at patrolman's pay, ten men will earn in a year $10,350. But this new scheme in all probability means that supernumeraries will be called in to take the place of the men who have their days off, for from one to ten will be off each day. If this be done, then it amounts to giving ten men a vacation daily with pay while hiring others to take their places. That would double the expense, or make the total cost of the arrangement at least $20,000 per annum.

In the reformed Lowell, police officers do not seem to be overworked; they do not look like an abused or toll-worn body; they have two weeks' vacation annually with pay. Their hours are definite and they have a good deal of free time. How very different it is with the firemen who are on duty for the whole 24 hours, and on whom so much depends. They get one day off in eight but they are on duty three times as long each day as the police officers.

If there is any sense of fair play or any demand for sane city government in Lowell, the public protest against this glaring injustice of the municipal council will be both prompt and vigorous.

SALEM FIRE HEROES

Salem, Salem, Salem—here, there and everywhere! It is impossible to get away from it. On all sides communities large and small are calling attention to the conditions that brought ruin and misery to that historic city and showing how local philanthropies might at any time pre-empt a like condition in practically all the cities of New England. With the impetus of the recent disaster, laws have been passed and municipal regulations have been made that will mean a great deal in progressive fire fighting and prevention for the future. This is especially noticeable in cities such as Lowell that have wooden tenements close together, shingled roofs, narrow streets, and a small fire area.

One of the newest regulations is that which favors placing the whole of a city within the fire district and having just as strict rules for the residential district as for the business district. Hereafter a man could easily get a permit to erect a house or barn and no one could a great deal how dangerous or undesirable his plans were if they conformed with a certain exterior plan. Now, roads, highways, elevator shafts and such things will receive the attention of the authorities, for the truth is dawning on all our municipalities that in matters of fire risks a man is his brother's keeper.

No selfish greed or indifference should be allowed to endanger a whole community. For instance, the leather factory where the Salem fire started might naturally hesitate to install sprinklers, owing to the cost, but what has the fire cost? Far more than can be counted in the enormous monetary loss.

Boston has succeeded in getting through a new fire ordinance and the papers there have not yet ceased agitating for still greater securities. They now want to have the fire district regulations extend to the entire city. Providence is another city which comes to the front with fire prevention activity. It has a close district of one and a half square miles with strict building laws but sixteen square miles are permitted to go on almost any old way. It is becoming recognized that the only adequate close district is that which embraces the entire city. Salem truths are gaining ground.

EXAMINING MR. WARBURG

The Boston Herald thinks that in refusing to be questioned by the senate committee, Mr. Warburg, the president's choice for the federal reserve board, is making a serious mistake, and many other papers are of the same opinion—enemies of a democratic administration to the contrary. "The senate is only doing its duty in making searching inquiry into the record of a man manifestly selected for leadership in this huge undertaking," says the Herald, continuing: "The theory that anybody is above investigation seems to us essentially dangerous." It seems to be the general opinion of all who have commented on the case that Mr. Warburg need have no fear of any questioning at the hands of the senate committee, and therefore his stand is all the more unaccountable. He reflects the spirit of the occasional business man who makes a great success owing to superlative ability, but who then regards any questions, official or otherwise, as an intrusion into private and personal matters. The man who would direct the affairs of the federal reserve board needs patriotism quite as much as ability, and if he has such a sense of his own importance as to feel that the United States senate is a secondary matter, perhaps it may be just as well that he be allowed to go his way, in isolated and unperturbed superiority.

PETTY GRAFTS

Governor Walsh very properly called the attention of the state a few days ago to certain petty grafts that are no credit to individuals responsible for them or to the patriotism of some Massachusetts politicians. From time immemorial it has been the custom of members of legislative commissions and others drawing pay from the public treasury to stretch matters a little bit when sending in a bill for personal expenses, and some of the petty grafters went so far as to include hotel bills for periods when they were in their own home town and bills for liberal tips given to waiters and others. The governor showed up the irregularity and dishonesty of this mode of procedure and he has instructed the state auditor to refuse to audit any such accounts until an investigation is made. In individual cases the leaks on the treasury were not very large but the governor stated that such small grafts cost Massachusetts many thousands annually. It would be well if it seems that in cases of habitual abuses of this nature the name of the guilty patriot should be published so that Massachusetts voters could repudiate anyone guilty of such mean and undesirable conduct.

WHY NOT JUSTICE TAFT?

Once again the death of a justice of the United States supreme court brings the name of former President Taft before the public as a possible choice. When the late Justice Horace Harmon Lurton was appointed in 1910, it was generally admitted that President Taft recognized ability above everything else, and few democrats even of the most bitterly partisan variety would find fault if President Wilson should now offer the honor to the former chief executive in the same manner. Mr. Taft's ability as a lawyer has never been questioned and he has the conservative and philosophic mind which is essential on the supreme bench, more important in some respects than congress. As president, Mr. Taft got an insight into national affairs that would now stand him in good stead and his many legal pronouncements since he retired from politics reveal his patriotism, his deep seated wisdom and his unusual knowledge of the processes of law and of the broad basis on which law is founded. President Wilson would make no mistake ethically or politically in making Mr. Taft the successor of the late Justice Lurton.

BERKMAN'S DREAM

Speaking in New York last Saturday at the memorial services of the dead anarchist, Arthur Caron, Alexander Berkman predicted a sugar-coated revival of the French Revolution in this country and gave utterance to sentiments that would probably have landed him in jail for a long term in any other country on earth. He lauded force and bloodshed and referred touchingly to the "martyrs" who, he said, may have been "killed while making an instrument to destroy capital." If he speaks for any organized body of men in America, be it large or small, there certainly is sufficient warning for the authorities everywhere in the following incoherent effusion:

"As anarchists, we are now ready to do nothing to gain the points we desire; we do not wish to do the things that the police and the press expect us to do, because that would be too simple. I predict that the social revolution will come in the near future and, when it does come, the anarchists will be more daring and more determined than they ever have been before. We are now ready to do anything to gain our demands, and to gain our rights."

SEEN AND HEARD

A broker, brooding over the heavy expenses of maintaining his office, thought he would save money by having a cheap lunch.

He wandered into a little restaurant, "Chausade" and ordered a frugal meal costing a few pence. Looking up, he recognized in the waiter an old stock trader.

"Hello, Harry, have you come down to this?" he asked.

"No, I'm all right. I only wait, don't you see here?" was the reply.

"That's the fish," said the broker, "the fish known as the rainbow trout."

"The fish," says The Sun, "is white or deep red. The rainbow is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds."

The above observation is by the Observer. The fish in the Boston Post and it is very evident that this erudite citizen is not a fisherman. He may be weather-wise and otherwise but he isn't fish-wise. In order that he may not leap again before he looks, we would respectfully refer him to The Angler's Guide, page 109. He will read there that the flesh of the rainbow trout is deep red, that the fish is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds. We have forwarded his criticism to the editor of The Angler's Guide and also to the U. S. commissioner of fish and fisheries whose report on page 61 deals with the rainbow trout.

WILD ANIMAL'S FIDELITY

One of the most remarkable instances of the fidelity of a wild animal to its mate, says the Moncton Times, comes from South Branch, Kent county, N. D. and is vouched for by a gentleman who is well known to the Times. He writes:

"I had business at South Branch, in Kent county, and stayed over Sunday with Thomas Hudson. His son A. F. Hudson has a few pens of red foxes, the old ones and five young ones. The young ones appeared in the yard out of their den about April 1, and since that time there has not been a night that a wild fox did not carry food from the forest nearby and leave it within two feet of the pen. Mr. Hudson kept account for one week and there were twenty-six rabbits, ten mice, two turkeys and one squirrel. It has brought seven partridges in all, and one night brought a flying squirrel and one mouse. People could not credit this story till they came and saw for themselves. Can this record be beaten by any other wild animal?"

MODEST LITTLE BLOSSOMS

Flowers which bespeak the affection and respect of friends for the man whose eyes death had closed in eternal and dreamless slumber filled five carriages. Graciously of exotic refinement, roses of exquisite coloring and haunting fragrance, lilies of chaste sweetness—all these and more were fashioned with all the beauty and art of which skilled workers were capable. Truly a tribute, wondrously fine, to successful, courtly and chivalrous manhood.

Yet among all, it was an old friend who noticed the most touching tribute. From the younger son it was. Before he came, before the clergyman pronounced the final words, he had gone into the garden.

There he gathered a few modest little blossoms. Shyly and tenderly, with eyes swelled with tears, these were placed beneath the outer garment which clothed the silent figure, on the left side, beneath which a manly heart once throbbed.

There the blossoms rested; there they are resting.

JOURNEYS NEAR HOME

Little journeys near home! Have you ever taken them? What one sees depends not upon distances, but upon the state of the mind. Europe may be just around the corner to those who are seeking foreign travel. All of which occurs to me after reading in a New Hampshire newspaper that Mr. and Mrs. George N. Dooley and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mills of Hudson Centre have just returned from an automobile trip.

They visited Windham Centre, West Windham, Canobie Lake station, Salem Depot, Salem Centre, Rockingham park, Canobie Lake park, Pelham Centre and nearby points. Their route was near the magnificent Scarsdale estate in Windham. This place is worth going far to see. It is seldom one has in this country of ours an opportunity to see so large a tract of land enclosed by massive walls. One could easily imagine himself transported to Eliza and its famous wall. These are built in the most workmanlike manner and are evidently designed to fence out the public, judging from their height and thickness, and only lack the watch towers and sentinels to give it the effect of a fortified place. Mr. Scarsdale's castle, built at enormous expense, stands out in bold relief, its crowning battlements crowning historic Jenny's hill. The owner, some time since having purchased Granite State grove, the well-known summer picnic grounds, has wired them in with stout woven wire fencing. Several strands of barbed wire twisted together are stretched above this. It has been said that Mr. Scarsdale attempted to purchase Canobie Lake park, but the owners refused to sell. If he had succeeded, no doubt this, too, would have been enclosed for a private park. Some day probably the castle and its lofty walls will become a noted ruin and our land will not then lack what it now in its naivness does not greatly miss.

IF I KNEW
If I knew the box where the smiles were kept,
No matter how large the key
Or strong the bolt, I would try so hard
"I would open I know, for me
Then, over the land and the sea,
I'd scatter the smiles to play.
So that careworn people might hold
Them fast
For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large enough
To hold all the frowns I meet,
I would like to gather them, every one,
From nursery, school and street;
Then, folding and holding, I'd pack them in,
And, turning the monster key,
I'd hire a giant to drop the box
To the depths of the deep, deep sea.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

HIS RESIGNATION
The resignation of Huerta will be the achievement of the purpose declared by the Wilson administration more than a year ago.

Huerta will be eliminated, apparently. But it is a long way from getting rid of Huerta to getting established a government that will be so stable and efficient that foreigners will return and resume the old volume of business—Lawiston Sun.

TRIAL MARRIAGE
The case of a sometime member of the livelier social set at Newport, to whom the Rhode Island superior court gave a while-you-wait divorce last week, is another good illustration of the growing popularity of trial marriage in this country and of the ease with which it can be practiced under the law and the court methods of some of the states, such as Nevada and Rhode Island.—Providence Tribune.

FOREIGN BANKS
An interesting experiment is to be tried by the National City Bank of New York, the biggest bank in the United States. It proposes to reach out to the world by opening branches in foreign countries. The idea will enable the extension of banking facilities to importers and exporters that should have the effect of increasing foreign trade.—Portland Express.

NEW YORK
The Providence Journal also has harsh things to say about New York for objecting to the extension of national aid to Salem. It calls New York "the greatest misanthrope on earth," and recalls many notable instances where large affairs in New York itself were only made possible when the country came to the city's aid. New York wants everything and wants to give little or nothing.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

Make it "Yellowstone" this Summer. Why Not?

If you have never been there go this summer. If you have—I don't need to urge you to go again—you will anyhow. You can talk about your "trips to Europe" but right here in good old S. A. is the world's wonderland of beauty and interest. Just imagine falls nearly twice as high as Niagara—then a 100 foot chasm with sides a riot of color that rivals the glory of the rainbow. You'll never cease to wonder at "Old Faithful" Geyser—the magnificent intricate lakes; and on every hand scenery that defies description. You will surely delight in the stage coach navigation, reminding you of the frontier days. And then I would like to tell you about the attractive and comfortable hotels. Leave it to me and I'll plan every part of the trip—there and back—and take the details of preparation and starting of your luggage. It's a part of the service of the road—"The Yellowstone Route" (C. 7 DROWNED IN BAY STATE

ED WALSH "COMES BACK" AND IS READY FOR HIS REGULAR TURN

Largest Toll in One Day This Season—Most of the Victims Were Bathing

BOSTON, July 15.—Seven persons, three of them Boston girls, and all with one exception under 20 years of age, were drowned yesterday in the inland waters of Massachusetts, the largest toll in one day this season. Most of the victims were bathing when they met their death. The girls waded out beyond their depth, and a young man swimming with a 10-year-old boy on his back in the Merrimack river at Haverhill was seized with cramps and both went to the bottom.

Yesterday's Victims
At Westfield—Fannie Gold, 14, of 55 North Main street, Boston.
Bella Steinberg, 13, of 23 Minor street, Boston.
Annie Linahan, 13, of 333 Broadway, Chelsea.

At Tibbury—Benjamin Rodman, 14, of Gay Head, drowned in Lake Tashum.
At Haverhill—John H. Murphy, 25, Joseph Marchbanks, 10.
At Roxbury—William A. Goldthwaite, 13, of 5 Lakehurst street.
Fannie Gold, daughter of Mrs. Anne Gold, 65 North Main street; Della Steinberg, daughter of Samuel Steinberg, 25 Minor street; and Annie Linahan, 13, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Linahan, a widow living at 333 Broadway, Chelsea, all three patients at the state tuberculosis camp at Westfield, were drowned in the Westfield river. The girls were wading with two other patients, most of whom could not swim and were helpless when their companions got beyond their depth.

Thirteen-year-old William A. Goldthwaite of Roxbury was drowned early last night when he lost his balance as he was carrying a bundle of firewood on his shoulder along the canal at Southampton street and fell into the water. His body was recovered two hours later by the harbor police.

The last was walking through Milton street, bound for his home at 8 Landon street, when a bundle of wood struck a low shed by the edge of the canal and toppled him over. The medical examiner was notified of his death and his body was taken to the City hospital morgue. The boy was the son of George C. Goldthwaite.

John H. Murphy and Joseph Marchbanks of Haverhill were drowned in the Merrimack river yesterday afternoon while several persons were watching them from the shore, but were unable to give aid. Murphy, who was an excellent swimmer, started to swim across the river with the Marchbanks boy on his back. When they reached midstream, Murphy was seized with cramps and both sank together.

Benjamin Rodman, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Rodman of Gay Head, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Lake Tashum when a boat capsized. He was unable to swim and went down trying to reach the overturned boat.

DORCHESTER BOYS DROWNED
BARTON, N. S., July 15.—Two Dorchester boys, Reginald Mince, aged 20, and his 15-year-old brother Claude, were drowned late yesterday when the punt in which they were landing from their motorboat met in heavy seas. With a companion named Kenneth Perry, Reginald swam ashore but he put back when he saw his brother in distress. Before help could reach them both were drowned.

PRIVATE FEELTON'S MISCAR
Was Nearly Choked to Death by Piece of Meat Lodging in His Throat—With Fletcher in Future

A report comes from the military camp at Lakeville to the effect that Private Feilton of Company M, this city, had a narrow escape from death by choking yesterday. While eating a piece of meat lodged in his throat. Surgeons were summoned in haste, but Lieut. H. D. Hurley did not wait for the arrival of the doctors and, with the aid of a spoon, succeeded in dislodging the meat. In this manner he saved the young militiaman's life, as a few minutes delay would have been fatal.

Ed Walsh, the White Sox's great spitball pitcher, who has been out of the game since the middle of last season with a bad wing, has thoroughly recovered the use of his arm and is taking his regular turn in the box. Fans and players all over the circuit will be glad to see the "Iron Man" back in harness, as he is one of baseball's most popular pitchers. He shut out the New York Yankees in his first full game.

The auditor's report showed the books to be correct and with a small gain, in cash on hand.

William Boutilier and John McArthur were appointed as auditors for the coming six months.

Lowell Nest of Owls
The Lowell Nest, No. 1255, Order of Owls, will entertain the members of the Lawrence nest in a royal manner tomorrow night in the new Elks hall, Middle street. Besides the regular business a delightful program of musical and literary numbers will be rendered, under the direction of a selected committee. The object of the joint meeting of the Elks and Lawrence nests is the planning of a month field day at Lawrence during the month of August, to be held under the auspices of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill nests.

Plans are being made for the annual outing of the Lowell lodge of Elks and at a meeting of the outing committee held last evening practically every member of last year's committee promised to serve again which means an excellently prepared program. The annual outing is one of the chief events on the Elks' social calendar and this year's affair promises to eclipse all others. The sub-committees are hard at work clearing up all details and the governing, national and city officials, and many grand officers are expected to be present. Names of those who have been selected as the scene of the event and the grounds adjoining, are very suitable for sports and other amusements. The officers of the committee are as follows: Chairman, John P. Burns; treasurer, Fred H. Bourke; secretary, John J. Lee.

$1000 REWARD FOR BODY
BROTHER OF LOUIS MARGOLIN, WHO IS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN DROWNED, MAKES OFFER

FRESNO, Cal., July 15.—A heavy brown woolen shirt, water soaked, and stained and torn to shreds, was dragged from Dinky creek near Fresno, 50 miles northeast of Fresno, yesterday. The shirt is the one worn by Louis Margolin, chief forest inspector of the Sierras, when he disappeared while making a trip across the Sierras June 15. The condition of the shirt gave rise to the theory that Margolin fell from a trolley just over the hole from which the shirt was recovered, struck on a rock and plunged unconsciously into the creek. His brother in New York has offered $1000 reward for his body.

LICENSE BOARD MET
At the meeting of the license commission held last evening a communication was read from Supt. Welch stating that Alvin Leakes, who holds a liquor driver's permit, had been fined $50 in the local court for keeping a saloon. Leakes is employed by James J. Cahill. It was voted to lay the matter on the table until John J. Harvey, counsel for Leakes, had been notified.

A Warren Churchill of the Louis K. Liggett corporation was granted a sixth class liquor license.

The Sunday permit held by Valer Boldy of 135 Cheever street was surrendered and a similar permit issued in the name of Palmer H. Corbin of the same address. WOUNDED MEXICAN FEDERAL HID AMONG DEAD

COMPANIONS HOPING TO ESCAPE WHEN BURIED

I CART LOAD OF DEAD SOLDIERS AT ZACATECAS - 2 VILLAS' TROOPS LEAVING SALTILLO FOR SAN LUIS POTOSI. © 1914 AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

These new pictures are among the latest from the heart of the war in Mexico. One of them was taken after the battle of Zacatecas and shows a cart filled with bodies of dead soldiers killed in the battle. When the order was given to cart the bodies away and burn them a federal soldier who was wounded and who was feigning that he was dead leaped up and surrendered. He thought he could escape after being covered with a foot of earth, but he knew he had no chance when he heard that the bodies were to be burned. He was lined up against a wall and shot dead for trying the trick. The other picture shows rebels about to leave Saltillo for the attack on San Luis Potosi, where the next big battle is expected.

BIG MEETING OF O. M. I. CADETS

Greeted Rev. Fr. Sullivan at the School Hall Last Evening

Annual Encampment to Be Held at Milligan's Grove

MAJOR FRANCIS HAGGERTY

It was indeed a happy gathering last evening when 300 or more young men, members and past members of the O. M. I. Cadets, met in the Immaculate Conception school hall and listened to the glad words from their spiritual director, that there should be another one of the celebrated encampments for which the O. M. I. Cadets are noted in all parts of New England. It had been announced in the daily papers that there would be a meeting last evening, and the prompt response of the boys must have brought joy to the heart of Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., who has seen the boys but once since his return from the far west. After a few words of greeting, Fr. Sullivan asked the boys who intended to go to camp this year to stand up, and there was not a single boy left in his seat. Then it was that the date of the encampment, which will take place Aug. 4th at Milligan's grove, was announced. Fr. Sullivan then told the Cadets about his trip which took him away from the "boys he loved so well," as he expressed it. He was gone for two months. He told them about the society called the Legion of the Cross, of San Francisco, which has a membership of about 1000 boys, whose ages range all the way up from 12 to 25 years. Their drills, dances and the encampment, which was held in Santa Barbara, while he was on the western coast, were all described to the boys, who thought that this organization was really wonderful until Fr. Sullivan said that it couldn't for a minute be compared with the O. M. I. Cadets. This brought about much handclapping and cheers for the reverend gentleman. He also told the boys that he hadn't given the matter of going to camp a thought until he received letters only last week from two young men in Springfield, who had heard of the O. M. I. Cadets' encampment, asking if he wouldn't send on information and rates regarding the camp. Another letter was received soon after from a young man in San Francisco, saying that he would be in Massachusetts the entire month of August and asked if he wouldn't be allowed to attend camp. He told them that this annual encampment entitled a whole lot of expense but if they would get together and help him out he would go more than half way with them. The young men, members of the Legion of the Cross, he said were exact the sum of $15 for one week of camp life. In closing, he said that he wanted every boy, members and past members of the Cadets, to attend the monster meeting next Tuesday evening, where all of the final details will be mapped out. He was enthusiastically applauded at the close.

Leut. Bernard McArdle, military instructor of the Cadets, gave a short talk on camp life and promised that it would be the greatest encampment of young men ever seen in this grand old state of Massachusetts. Rules and regulations were given over for the benefit of the boys who had never before attended the camp. It is to be expected that over 500 young men will turn out this year for the annual encampment. The outdoor life, with a touch of real military roughing during their stay at camp, will be added to with a fine program of athletics which, no doubt, will add greatly to the enjoyment of the boys. It is the intention of Fr. Sullivan to remain in camp

BOY DROWNED IN THE
PAWTUCKET CANAL

Antoine Cornellier, 15 Years Old,
Lost His Life in Canal Near Moody Street Bridge—Companion Had Narrow Escape

A drowning accident occurred this afternoon in the Pawtucket canal near the locks of the Locks and Canals Co., a short distance from the Moody street bridge spanning the Merrimack river, when a boy about 15 years of age, named Antoine Cornellier and residing at 183 Perkins street, lost his life. A number of boys who were in bathing at the time attempted to save the boy's life, but their efforts were in vain.

The accident occurred at 3.25 o'clock. According to witnesses, the Cornellier boy with a companion were watching the bathers dive from the canal walk from a point on the bank. In order to get a better view of the swimmers, Cornellier and his companion, whose name could not be learned, stepped on a large rock projecting into the water. The rock was not solid and it tipped over under the weight of the two boys and they were thrown into the water. Cornellier's companion managed to get hold of tree roots and held on until assistance arrived. Cornellier, however, was not so fortunate and he went to the bottom.

The boys across the canal, who were in swimming, tried to rescue Cornellier, but their efforts were fruitless, for when they reached the spot where the little fellow fell in, he had disappeared for the third time. Undertaker Joseph Albert was immediately notified and he soon had some of his men grappling the bottom of the canal for the body. At the time of going to press the body had not been recovered.

ALLEN ST. PLAYGROUND

Will be Continued This Summer—
City Will Pay for the Use of It

Upon request of Mayor Murphy the municipal council today, voted to pay Giuseppe Capone, through his attorney, Freeman Hunt, the sum of $162.50 for personal injury. The complainant brought suit against the city in the sum of $5000 and the case is pending in the superior court.

The mayor also called the attention of the council to the fact that he had received a communication from the superintendent of parks stating that the Lawrence Mfg. Co. had agreed to let the city have the Allen street playgrounds for $200 a year. Under the former contract the city paid the company $5 a year and emptied the land from taxation amounting to about $700. Now the company agrees to accept $200 and pay the taxes.

DIRECTORS OF BOARD OF TRADE

The directors of the Lowell Board of Trade held a meeting this afternoon at their rooms in Central street. The meeting was called to order by President Robert F. Marden at 4.30 o'clock and considerable business was transacted. The full list of committees to serve during the ensuing year was read and approved and a general discussion of the coming outing took place. The executive committee reported their doings to the directors and the general business pertaining to the workings of this progressive organization was transacted.

Superintendent of Streets Says He

Commissioner Morse Took Office—
Hearing Before the Municipal Council Today

The gallery was filled to overflowing and every seat in the aldermanic chamber was taken at city hall today when the hearing on the charges accompanying the order of Alderman Charles J. Morse for the removal of Newell F. Putnam as superintendent of streets was begun. Mayor Murphy declared the hearing open at 10.25.

Mr. Dunbar said the motion was of

"Do you remember of procuring supplies in 1911 without the formality of a requisition?"

"I do not."

"How did you come to buy supplies from Good Roads Machinery company, or the New England Road Machinery company?"

"A representative came here and asked me to try out a machine. He said if it wasn't satisfactory I could return it. It was a street cleaner and I tried it out in the square. I liked it and, through Purchasing Agent Foye ordered half a dozen machines. I put in a requisition a little later. An extra half dozen arrived that I didn't know anything about. Mr. Foye asked me if I could use them and I said I could."

"Do you know when you bought the sample street cleaner for $200?"

"The first of the year."

"When did you buy the six?"

"Shortly after."

"You purchased a second hand drill from the same company?"

"I do not."

"Without a requisition?"

"Yes."

"Isn't that irregular?"

"Yes, but sometimes necessary."

"You made four distinct purchases from this company, without requisitions?"

"No, sir."

"Where are the requisitions?"

"I think I can find them."

"Now, what about the Good Roads company. You made purchases from them?"

"Yes."

"What were they?"

"I bought a steel guy. One of our guys broke and I telephoned to Boston."

"Did you send any requisition?"

"I think not."

"You knew J. Walter Bowers?"

"I do not."

"You made a contract with him for sand and gravel in exchange for manure produced at the city stables?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever take any sand or gravel from him?"

"No."

"Did you buy any sand or gravel in 1912?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"I don't know."

"$500 worth?"

"I think not."

"Where did you get the sand you had on hand in 1912?"

"From the city farm."

"Did you buy sand and gravel from Connors Bros?"

"Yes."

"Where did you use it?"

"On Plain street."

"More convenient to get it from there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you receive any sand from Mr. Bowers in 1912?"

"Yes, considerable of it."

"What was the price of 3-inch paving blocks in 1910?"

"About $30 or $32."

"What was the price in 1910 for 4-inch paving blocks?"

"We didn't buy them by the thousand. We paid for them by the yard as they were laid."

"Can 3-inch blocks be cut to financial benefit or advantage by the city?"

"I wouldn't be surprised."

"How great would be the advantage?"

"I do not know."

"How many blocks did you have left in 1911 after you sold 500,000 of them?"

"About 200,000."

"And then you started re-cutting old blocks?"

"Yes."

"Where did you lay them?"

"In Allen street."

"How many did you cut in 1911?"

"Couldn't tell off-hand."

"When again did you do any cutting?"

"In 1912, we did considerable re-cutting and again in 1913."

"Did you find that to be advantageous to the city?"

"Yes."

"You haven't any 3-inch blocks on hand now?"

"Yes, at the Fletcher street ledge and in Newhall street."

"Do you know what your appropriation was for paving in 1910?"

"Couldn't say off-hand."

"You had a transaction with the Boston & Northern street railway company in 1910?"

"If you mean paving blocks, that contract or transaction came through the purchasing agent's office."

"Did Mr. Lees ask you for paving blocks?"

"Possibly he did."

"What talk did you have with Mr. Lees relative to obtaining $2160 worth of supplies in exchange for paving blocks?"

"I cannot recall the exact conversation. I asked him if he would pay some of the street department bills in return for the blocks."

"Why didn't you write your requisition that way?"

"Mr. Putnam then spoke of a conversation he had had with the then purchasing agent, now dead, and the then mayor. The purchasing agent at the time was the late Peter Mackenzie and the mayor, John F. Meehan."

Mr. Dunbar objected to Mr. Hennessy laying emphasis upon the fact that the then purchasing agent has since died, and said: "The then mayor is living, and present."

Mr. Hennessy said he did not emphasize any part of his remarks, and Mr. Dunbar retorted that if there was to be any emphasizing it must be done all along the line.

Mr. Hennessy then took up the matter of the purchase of tarvia from the Barrett Mfg. Co.

"Do you know if you purchased any of the supplies that the Boston & Northern street railway paid for?"

"I don't remember."

"Why did you sell some paving blocks for $27 a thousand and others for $6 a thousand?"

"I don't know."

"You purchased a second hand drill from the same company?"

"I do not."

"Without a requisition?"

"Yes."

"Isn't that irregular?"

"Yes, but sometimes necessary."

Girls Who Were Killed at East Rochester Crossing Buried—Business Suspended

EAST ROCHESTER, N. H., July 15.—The closing scene in one of the most heart-rending events in our history, the disaster to the Free Baptist Sunday school party at the railroad crossing at North Rochester, Saturday evening, was enacted yesterday afternoon when the funeral of five of the six victims took place at the Free Baptist church.

Business was suspended throughout the village and more than 100 assembled at the church, throughout the open space in front and overflowed into the street. The State and Stripes hung at half staff in the village square.

The bodies of the five girl victims, three of whom were members of the church choir, rested in white caskets in front of the pulpit platform. The bodies were almost buried in flowers. Conspicuously placed on each casket was a wreath of roses, surrounded by a white dove in flight.

The services began at 2 o'clock with the singing of "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" by a quartet composed of Arthur N. Brock, Irving C. Jordan, Jr., Frank E. Whitney and William G. Adams.

Rev. E. J. Canfield of the Methodist church gave a scripture reading, followed by prayer by Rev. John J. Perkins of the Advent church. After another selection by the quartet, Rev. Miles G. Taylor, pastor of the church, pronounced the eulogy.

"I am nearly broken hearted," he began, "over the loss of these five bright young girls of my parish. Here he paused, trembling, so deeply moved that moments passed before he was able to proceed and sobbed from all over the auditorium.

Many young girls, schoolmates of the victims, abandoned themselves to their grief.

After prayer by Mr. Tupper, Rev. Frank S. Hartley of the Rochester Free Baptist church performed the committal service, and the quartet sang "Some Time We'll Understand."

Four of the caskets were opened and the crowd filed slowly past the dead. During the funeral the caskets from the church one woman mourner fainted.

Sons of Schools E. A. Pugsley, the teachers and girl schoolmates escorted the bodies to Cold Spring cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blaisdell were so overcome that they made their way with difficulty from the church to their carriage. Behind came their remaining daughter, supported by her brothers.

WALSH TO INVESTIGATE

BOSTON, July 15.—It is the intention of Gov. Walsh to obtain within a few days information which will show just what part of the $2,000,000 originally appropriated for the development of the port of Boston has been expended, how much will be needed for the work now in hand, and what surplus, if any, is likely to be available for the new board of port directors. The governor has chosen his own expert and will not be governed by the statements furnished by the retiring board members.

There is now pending before the governor and executive council the question of approving contracts for the construction of the proposed drydock, the construction of a pier in East Boston and several minor contracts.

A majority of the retiring board, Gen. Hugh B. Hancock, Admiral Francis T. Bowles and William T. Fitzgerald, has stated that all of the proposed improvements, including the dry dock and pier, can be completed within the $2,000,000 and still leave a surplus of $112,000.

Joseph A. Conry and William S. Mc-

Nary, constituting a minority, told the executive council more than a week ago that the projected improvements not only would consume all of the original $2,000,000, but would compel the new directors to come to the legislature for more funds with which to complete the work.

The governor is determined to get at the facts for himself.

Meanwhile the governor, impressed by the lack of harmony among the members of the present board, is looking about for three men to constitute the new board of port directors, who will constitute a working unit, and whose opinions and recommendations will carry weight with the members of the executive council and the legislature.

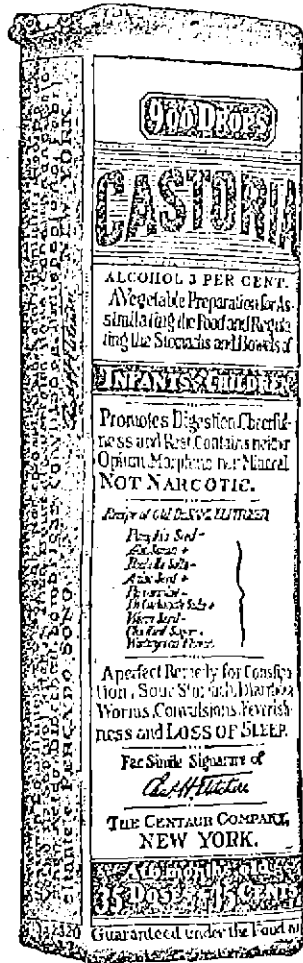

MAYOR JOHN F. HURLEY

Sends Letter to Sam Hill Thanking Him for the Bouquet Presented at Cricket Grounds

The following letter from Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem to Mr. Sam Hill of the Bunting club is self-explanatory: Salem, July 13, 1914. Mr. Sam Hill, Lowell, Mass. Dear Mr. Hill: I wish to express to you my appreciation for the beautiful bouquet which you presented me at the Bunting grounds on Saturday.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Haisled Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hanten, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clauson, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

These pictures were taken during and after the battle of Zacatecas. One of them shows rebel artillery in action hurling shot at the federal fortifications on the hills surrounding the city. The marksmanship of the rebel gunners was far superior to that of the federals. The other picture shows a scene in one of the streets after the fighting ceased and the rebels had taken possession of the city. Dead bodies were strewn all over.

I imagine there was great rejoicing in the camps of the anti-suffragists when they learned of the answer given the suffragists by President Wilson last week in Washington. The evasiveness of the reply, which the president intended should be non-committal, misled no one, and Mr. Wilson has placed himself on record as being opposed to the enfranchisement of women just as surely and just as irreversibly as if he had shouted it from every housetop in the land. Down deep in his heart, I believe, the president favors equal suffrage, as does every thinking person, but he feels that he cannot speak as an individual. Instead only as the leader of a great political party. This is unfortunate, good politics though it may be. The president should feel at liberty sufficiently to express his personal opinion on any subject, after mature reflection, even though the subject were not endorsed as a plank in his party platform. While we may agree with the question to their individual satisfaction, to be settled individually by the states rather than by amendment to the federal constitution, we cannot help contrasting his stand with that of Abraham Lincoln when he did not hesitate to propose to congress the thirteenth amendment, forever forbidding slavery in the limits of the United States. This, when ratified by three-fourths of the states, became a part of the federal constitution, notwithstanding the fact that the several states had disposed of the question to their individual satisfaction long before. The cases may not be exactly parallel, but the same principle underlies both.

Had the suffragists waited on Lincoln in Washington last week, instead of Mr. Wilson, there is no doubt they would have come away knowing just how the chief executive of the land stood on the question. It would have been either one way or another, no evading, and I know it would have been favorable to suffrage, for as far back as 1836, in a letter published in the Lancet, the president of the American Association of the Government, who assisted in bearing its burdens, consequently, I go for adding a vote to the right of suffrage who may be able to bear arms (by no means excluding females).

Skins of Fashion
I do not like the heelless shoes worn by women this summer. They may be in accord with the De Milo school, and the placid Venus may and probably did shamble about in the heavens of mythology without heels on her sandals, and it probably accounts for much that is in my poor mundane judgment undesirable in the otherwise estimable goddess's ensemble. They are bad enough when worn by a very slim girl, but when adopted by a lady of

SUN FASHION HINTS
From time to time as I skim over the advertising sections of magazines, periodicals and newspapers, the thought comes to me: the writers of these advertisements are not so much concerned with their line of work; they draw large salaries; I wonder if they correctly gauge the mental calibre of the reading public when the only way they seem to be able to draw attention to their messages is by making an appeal to the eye. I imagine they feel that if they can catch the eye, the rest is easy. However, I cannot help feeling that a logically-written statement, describing the goods to be sold, and all the particulars pertaining thereto, making its appeal to reason, would be much more effective than the present methods. Time was, and not so very long ago, when charlatans and fakirs of all kinds used the periodical as a vehicle for placing before the public goods of little or no merit. Bona fide advertisers had to compete with these and the result shows us in the face and fairly screams at us day after day when we unfold our newspapers.

Of late years, owing to strict legislation in regard to the purity of goods and foodstuff preparations, generally, and owing also, in part, to the refusal of respectable sheets to advertise fake goods and unreliable concerns, advertising has risen to a dignity unknown to it in former years. Still the glare of printer's ink greets us, but a change is making its way. Then the advertisement will appear in the newspaper or magazine just as any other news, making its appeal to the reason and judgment of its readers through the merit

LAME PRISONER DROPPED CRUTCH AND ESCAPED—NATICK CHIEF HELPLESS

BOSTON, July 15.—Unable to give chase, because he happened to have two other men handcuffed to his wrist, Chief Hiram Brown of the Natick police force was forced to see a third prisoner, a lame man carrying a crutch, escape from his custody on an inward bound train at the Faneuil station yesterday afternoon.

The escaped prisoner is Burton Stevenson, aged 40, and he is still at large. Chief Brown was conveying the three men to the East Cambridge jail. He took the precaution of handcuffing two of the men to his wrist, but taking Stevenson's lameness into consideration, he put no twisters on him.

Everything went well until the train began to pull out of the Faneuil station, when Stevenson got up from his seat and quickly hobbled to the platform and jumped off. In spite of the fact that he is suffering from a serious injury to his right foot, he threw his crutch away. This was found later.

Chief Brown was powerless to give chase with the other men tied to him. He continued on to the station in Brighton and then telephoned word to the police of station 14.

Others were immediately sent to Faneuil but found no trace of Stevenson. The missing prisoner weighs about 170 pounds and has a black mustache.

Mayor Curley Notifies Mayor Hurley That Only Sacred Concerts Are Permitted on the Lord's Day

BOSTON, July 15.—Mayor Curley sent a letter to Mayor Hurley of Salem last night informing him that, in the opinion of Corporation Counsel Sullivan, no game of baseball proposed for Sunday on Fenway park for the benefit of the Salem sufferers cannot be played for the reason that the only entertainments permitted on the Lord's day are sacred concerts.

PAINS AROUND THE HEART

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart disease rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation. With thin blood and weak nerves it is impossible to avoid stomach trouble. Build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and note the increased appetite, the comfortable feeling after eating and the improvement in health and vigor.

Two books "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store.

WAS SCALDED TO DEATH

Claimed That Insane Patient at Taunton Was Burned in Bath Tub—Inquest Owing to Report

TAUNTON, July 15.—An inquest into the death of Mrs. George M. Gifford of Brockton, a patient at the Taunton Insane hospital, was held before Judge Austin yesterday as a result of the report of Medical Examiner Atwood that death resulted from burns from water while she was being given a bath. Mrs. Gifford was admitted to the hospital May 29 and the bath was given the next day. She had been in the bath about half an hour when it was discovered that an excess of hot water was running into the tub. She died at the hospital June 9.

Judge Austin reserved his decision. Miss Mary J. Smith, who, with Miss Jennie Schofield, was in charge of the bathroom, testified she drew the bath for Mrs. Gifford. The mixture of hot and cold water was tested at 85 degrees by Miss Ferguson, in charge of the ward.

Miss Smith said she closed all the valves tightly, stayed in the bathroom 20 minutes and went to breakfast. Miss Nora Walsh testified that when she came on duty a few minutes after 7 o'clock and noticed steam coming from the hot water valve she shut it off. The hot water valve was open half a turn. She notified Mrs. Morgan

WENDELL, July 15.—Following an all-night search by some 15 men, little Hermon King, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry King, was found sound asleep in a swamp here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by Frank Ballou.

The little fellow went blueberrying Monday morning with his sister. While she went after her horse, which had strayed down the road, Hermon also strayed away.

When the girl returned and missed her brother, she searched for some time and then noticed people living in the vicinity.

Mr. Ballou found the youngster about three-quarters of a mile from the Ballou berry pasture. He was none the worse for his night's exposure, but pleased to get home.

SHAMROCK IV READY

LIPTON CHALLENGER FOR AMERICA'S CUP WILL DEPART FOR U. S. ON JULY 18

GOSPORT, England, July 15.—Everything is ready for the departure on July 18 for the United States of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup. Her compasses have been adjusted, her ketch rig fitted and the steam yacht Erin, also belonging to Sir Thomas, is waiting to convey her across the Atlantic.

"The Shamrock IV has done all that has been asked of her," is the final word of Charles E. Nicholson, the designer. He admits, however, that the trial boat was in no way satisfactory as the type of opponent which would enable yachtsmen accurately to gauge Shamrock IV's chances of winning the America's cup.

Underwriters at Lloyd's are not so optimistic as Mr. Nicholson concerning Shamrock's chances. Their estimate today was, roughly, 3 to 1 against the challenger. In other words they are issuing policies at a premium of 35 per cent to pay the total loss if Shamrock IV should prove successful. A similar risk in connection with an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic during the present year is being covered at eight per cent. The crew of the Shamrock IV, numbering more than 30 men is to be divided during the voyage across, half of the sailors luxuriating on board the Erin as far as the Azores and then relieving their shipmates for the remainder of the journey.

THE ADAMSON DAM BILL

CONSIDERATION AS SOON AS APPROPRIATION BILLS ARE OUT OF JURY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—With all differences of opinion over proposed conservation legislation removed, passage of legislation on the subject at this session of congress was today believed to be assured. The resolutions embodying the legislation are the Adamson dam bill now pending in the house and the Ferris bill, to regulate water power projects on public lands. As a result, a complete agreement was reached between the advocates of the two bills and when the conference broke up all parties to it predicted passage of the measures.

Consideration of the Adamson bill, it was announced today will be continued as soon as the appropriation bills are out of the way.

The conference decided to keep jurisdiction over all dams and water power sites on the public domain and those on property not in the public domain entirely separate. Minor changes were made in the Adamson bill in order that provisions thought to conflict with the Ferris bill might be made clearer and more definitely defined.

TEWKSBURY POSTMASTER

A. J. Fairgrieve Appointed—Cong.
Testimonial

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Congressman John Jacob Rogers yesterday accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address at a public testimonial at Andover July 21 for the benefit of the mother of Maurice Welch, "the first soldier to fall in the hostilities at Vera Cruz," as the invitation put it. The testimonial will be given under the auspices of Division 6, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Andover.

Postmaster of Tewksbury

As an uncompromising republican and a consistent critic of the administration, Congressman Rogers yesterday had considerable of the local press by notice from the postoffice department that his candidate for postmaster at Tewksbury, Arthur J. Fairgrieve, had been appointed to the position. This is the first time Mr. Rogers has picked and he expressed appreciation, if not exactly gratitude.

Merrimack River Bill

Indorsement of the river and harbor appropriation bill before the senate was received yesterday by the members of the Massachusetts delegation from the Lawrence chamber of commerce, which expressed fear that congress may adjourn without passing the measure. "We believe," said the letter, "it is to be for the interest of this country, and more particularly to our state, that the bill should become a law, not only because in most of the instances the appropriations recommended were for the means of creating improvements needed, but also as giving employment to a great mass of our citizens."

The Massachusetts members of the house are now without power in the premises, except as they may be able to exert influence with various senators to assure the passage of the measure. The bill is under a hot fire in the senate chamber, its chief opponent being Senator Burton.

Bridge Over Merrimack River

Congressman Phelan introduced a bill yesterday to get the consent of congress for the construction of the much discussed bridge over the Merrimack river, between Lawrence and Haverhill. Where rivers are navigable in more than one state the consent of congress is required for the construction for a bridge. The bill was referred to the interstate commerce committee.

Congressman Murray visited the navy department yesterday to take up with the department the situation in the Charlestown navy yard, where the shipbuilders and helpers are on strike. The congressman left some material on the matter for the secretary of the navy and will see him personally when he returns to Washington.

The Port of Boston

To a little gathering of Massachusetts representatives in Rep. Patrick's office, P. J. Roberts, the new commercial agent for Boston, yesterday outlined his plans for promoting the trade and commerce of the port of Boston and of New England in general. Mr. Roberts will move to Boston about the middle of August with a clerk from the department of commerce.

His chief difficulty at present, said Mr. Roberts, was in obtaining suitable quarters for his office. Uncle Sam being insistent that this should be situated in a federal building. As far as he could learn, he said, no such quarters were available in Boston, and he feared he might not be able to accept the tender of office room from the chamber of commerce.

While this problem is being solved, Mr. Roberts proposes to get into close touch with the business, manufacturing and financial interests of Boston and New England, and to ascertain through what channels his office most effectively can direct his energies. Mr. Roberts is only 27 years old, but is regarded in Washington as a "live wire."

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Two hundred of the thousands of the men and women thrown out of employment after the fire at Salem, may find work in textile mills and shoe factories in other sections of New England, according to information received today at the department of commerce. Northern Waste Co. has accepted a lucrative position out of town.

W. J. Sjöström has accepted the position of overseer of dyeing at the Merrimack Woolen Co.

The Appleton company has recently filed for registration the trade mark "Wara" to be stamped on cotton piece goods.

Cotton was an article of commerce in Italy long before introduction into England. In the 13th and 14th centuries, Milan and Florence, Venice and Genoa were markets from which raw cotton was distributed to the workers of the Netherlands, who subsequently introduced it into Lancashire.

He thinks that his showing in this race entitles him to a race with the champion and is anxious that it should be pulled off as soon as possible. The race will take place on the South common under the able guidance of Jack Mahan, the old-time bicycle racer, who has handled some of the fastest long distance runners in New England. Mahan is of the opinion that McNaughty can defeat Goddard, Nobes or Christie with ease. Let's have it, boys.

They will install over 300 sprinkler heads. The Fall River Iron Works is but one of the many industries throughout New England that has taken up humidification.

Cotton as a Disease Carrier

It is often said that smallpox and other diseases are transmitted through the agency of raw cotton. If raw cotton were the means of carrying smallpox germs the fact must have been established long before now. Cotton has been accused of carrying the germs of this dreaded disease especially, but the evidence has never been other than circumstantial and the case is the same as in the present instance, far away from this city have been smitten with the disease and nine of them worked in a picker or card room in which certain Mexican cotton had been used. The cotton accordingly gets the blame at this place, but upon other sources will have to be found for two other cases occurred simultaneously 40 miles beyond this place. We get smallpox in this country at periodical intervals of ten to 12 years, and in accordance with this theory another outbreak is about due. Its coming has been looked forward to with apprehension, for in textile districts the prejudice is strong against vaccination, and in many of them a round half of the population is unprotected by vaccine.

Night Law is Upheld

The right of the New York legislature to pass laws prohibiting women and girls from working in factories between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. was upheld yesterday by the appellate division of the supreme court by a vote of four to one. The only dissenting vote was based on the fact that the appellate division is bound to the contrary by a decision of the court of appeals, and that if the ruling to this effect by the highest court is no longer controlling, it is for the court of appeals to say so. The law upheld by the decision yesterday is an amendment of the labor law passed last year.

The question was before the court in an appeal by the Charles Schefelner Press, Inc., which was found guilty in special sessions of employing women after 10 o'clock at night. Sentence was suspended in order that the courts might determine whether the law was in violation of the constitutional rights of the defendant and its employees as to depriving them of life, liberty and property without due process of law. The constitutionality of the law was upheld on the broad ground that it aimed to preserve the health of women and thereby preserve the health of the race, since the chief function of women is motherhood. The opinion of presiding Justice Ingraham points out that it is important for the welfare of the race that women have proper rest, and that it has been proved that night work is more of a drain on the human being than day work, especially in the case of women.

Presiding Justice Ingraham said: "The law recognizes a distinction between the sexes and justifies legislative enactment for the protection of the morals of women, which have not been and are not now considered necessary in the case of men. Upon the health of women as the child bearing sex necessarily depends the future health of succeeding generations. Any occupation that tends to lower the vitality of women and interferes with her bearing healthy children impairs the health and capacity of future generations and is a subject of the utmost public concern."

INDICTMENT OF MRS. CARMAN EXPECTED

Grand Jury Investigation Into Death of Mrs. Bailey Resumed — Maid Said Mrs. Carman Rushed Into the House After the Shot Was Fired

MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., July 15.—A grand jury from which two members withdrew because of friendship for the Carman family resumed today its deliberations in the case of Mrs. Florence Carman held in jail as having fired the shot which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey in Dr. Carman's office at Freeport on the night of June 30. It was expected that the jury would complete its work today and that if an indictment were found it would be returned tomorrow.

With the resumption of the hearing District Attorney Smith announced that he had issued a subpoena for Mrs. Ellen Corby, a niece of Mrs. Carman. It is understood that she is one of the two women who have been sought since the murder as having been in the doctor's waiting room and who fled when they heard the shot fired.

The first witness examined today was Henry Debus who testified to seeing Mrs. Bailey going to the Carman home.

Another witness was Miss Helen Combs who was in the waiting room when the murder was committed. Said he shot Mrs. Bailey.

Dr. Carman made public today a letter addressed to his wife from Rochester, N. Y. The writer said he had shot Mrs. Bailey. He had donned woman's clothing, he said, as a disguise. The letter was written in what was apparently a disguised handwriting and looked as if it might have been written by a woman. It was not taken seriously.

It was thought unlikely that Mrs.

Carman would be called before the jury. Her counsel had agreed to waive immunity for her but in the opinion of the district attorney it was inexpedient to have her testify.

The story of the negro maid that Mrs. Carman had on a kimono when she saw her run into the kitchen contradicted the account of Elwood Barnes, heretofore the chief witness for the states. Barnes said that the woman he saw had on a white waist. Because of this clash of testimony it was said, might not be called before the grand jury.

The last witness before the jury was Frank J. Farrell, a tramp, who went to the backdoor of the Carman house on the night of June 30 to ask for food. It is understood that Farrell's story corroborated in general the account given yesterday by Celia Coleman.

More details of the story of the Carman's maid, Celia Coleman, as told to the grand jury yesterday became known today.

Mrs. Carman wore kimono. Besides saying that Mrs. Carman had hurried through the kitchen from the back yard immediately after the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired, the girl, it is understood, said Mrs. Carman wore a kimono at the time. Mrs. Carman herself has said she wore a kimono, but has insisted that she was in her bedroom.

Dr. Carman, who is here, said today that he was sure the hand thrust through the window when the shot was fired was a man's. He recalled, he said, that on the wrist he saw a man's cuff. Alvah Smith and Daniel Raynor, members of the grand jury and close friends of Carman's asked to be excused from the jury today. Their request was granted. Their withdrawal still left a quorum of grand jurors, and the proceedings will not be invalidated.

MAID SAYS MRS. CARMAN RUSHED THROUGH KITCHEN FROM OUTDOORS

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 15.—Celia Coleman, colored maid in the house of Dr. Edwin Carman two weeks ago when Mrs. Louise Bailey was murdered, has deserted Mrs. Carman.

She told her "amplified" story to the grand jury yesterday and smashed Mrs. Carman's alibi. The girl has been in custody of Burns detectives since the crime.

In the opinion of those who have followed the case closely it spells indictment for Mrs. Florence Carman, the jealous wife of the physician, who is now locked up in Minneola jail charged with the murder of Mrs. Bailey.

The essential part of the maid's testimony, as related to the grand jury a Minneola yesterday, is that she was in the kitchen of the Carman home at the time of the shooting; that she heard the fatal shot and the commotion in the doctor's office which followed immediately after, and that while she stood stock still in the kitchen, too frightened to move, Mrs. Carman came rushing in from the rear yard.

Mrs. Carman was breathless and excited. The maid said she did not see any revolver, but she only saw Mrs. Carman, but spoke to her and Mrs. Carman answered.

NEWEST PICTURE OF DR. CARMAN TAKING FLOWERS TO HIS WIFE IN JAIL

This is the latest picture of Dr. Edwin Carman, one of the principals in the now famous Bailey-Carman murder mystery. It was taken when the doctor visited his wife at the Minneola (N. Y.) jail, where she is held charged with the murder of Mrs. William D. Bailey, one of her husband's patients. Dr. Carman carries flowers to his wife daily and is directing the lawyers who are trying to free her. It is now over two weeks since Mrs. Bailey was shot to death in Dr. Carman's office at Freeport, N. Y., and the only arrest made is that of Mrs. Carman, who had admitted that she had spied upon her husband with a dictograph when he had women

FIGHT FOR T. D. JONES

VOTE IN FAVOR OF PRESIDENT WILSON'S NOMINEE EXPECTED FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—After a night of constant effort to line up administration senators for President Wilson's nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago for the federal reserve board, the whips reported to the White House early today that a vote probably would not be reached before Friday or Saturday and that the result would be a victory for the president, who would be very close.

Six democratic senators were reported to the White House as unalterably opposed to the confirmation. Senators regarded as doubtful went to the White House for conferences with the president. Officials said the president was taking no part in the preliminary fight for a vote in open session.

90 RIOTERS SENTENCED

PARTICIPANTS IN ANTI-MINISTRIAL RIOTS IN JAPAN JAILED

TOKIO, July 15.—The criminal court here sentenced 90 participants in the anti-ministrial riots on Feb. 10 to terms of imprisonment ranging from six months to a year.

The riots occurred during demonstrations against the ministry's attitude in connection with the recent naval scandals for which a number of officers were dismissed from the navy on charges of having received illicit commissions for influencing the allotment of admiralty contracts.

PRESIDENT WAS DEPOSED

HEAD OF WABASH R. D. FIRED BY DIRECTORS—CHARGES OF HIGH FINANCE AIDED

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Charges of high finance in the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway were aired today before the house commerce committee working on Representative Townsend's resolution calling for an interstate commerce commission investigation into the decline in the market price of the railroad's bonds.

Joseph Ramsey, former president of the Wabash, testified how he had been deposed from office without his knowledge at a directors' meeting. Under questioning by Mr. Townsend he gave testimony to show that the decline in the property was caused in a fight by rival financial interests for control of freight tonnage of the Pittsburgh district.

Mr. Townsend, in his resolution, sets out that the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal company's issue of first mortgage bonds aggregated $30,000,000 and he wants to know what cash or things of value it received from the disposal of this issue, for what purpose the proceeds were used, from whom and at what price it obtained control of more than 51 per cent of the capital stock of the Wabash & Lake Erie railroad, whether it ever transferred or gave to the Wabash certain bonds or stocks supposed to be already pledged as security for the $30,000,000 issue, and what efforts have been made to protect the bond purchasers and other information.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

BOSTON, July 15.—Cardinal O'Connell is due to arrive in Boston on the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland on or about Aug. 15. The cardinal, accompanied by Mgr. M. J. Besides reporting to His Holiness on the work of the archdiocese of Boston, the cardinal presided at the services at the completion of the important work of the draining of the underground portion of the historic Church of St. Clement in Rome.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

TWO YOUNG MEN FROM BROOKLYN, N. Y., BEING HELD FOR LARCENY NEAR MANCHESTER, N. H.

What may develop into a very important arrest was made by Patrolman Jerry Donley this forenoon when he captured two young men attempting to dispose of a number of raincoats, sweaters and other clothing in a second hand store on Middlesex street. They registered as John J. Hill, 20, and Joseph Coyle, 22, both of Brooklyn, N. Y.

After the men had been locked up a short time the police of this city to be on the lookout for two young men who, it is alleged, broke into several camps in the vicinity of the Queen city and got away with considerable camp equipment, etc. The local police believed that the description of the men who broke into the Manchester camps tallied with that of the pair who were arrested by Patrolman Donley this forenoon and an officer from Manchester will come to this city to investigate the matter further.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

GUILTY DIRECTORS

The worst enemy of those who managed the affairs of the New Haven railroad in the days when it fell from its high position to the low level it now holds could not invent a more scathing arraignment than is contained in the bitter denunciation of the Interstate Commerce commission and the warmest apologist of the property and its alleged wreckers would look in vain through the condemnatory columns of the report for one grain of comfort. The one naked fact that stands out from an array of bitter truths is this: The New Haven directors robbed the stockholders of a sum not less than $20,000,000 and possibly as high as $30,000,000. What the robbery has meant to New England, to the stockholders, and to New England business is too well known to need any comment.

Never before in the history of American railroading has such a charge been made by a government body, and the entire country will await the results. Without mincing the matter the commission holds several individuals guilty of robbery directly and indirectly, and the hope is held out that from the misused funds a comparatively few millions may be recovered. No one reading the report could doubt for a moment that prosecutions are intended, and lest there should be any doubt of its intent the report specifically says that the uncovered evidence of mismanagement and worse has been sent to the district attorneys of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York, and also to the federal department of justice.

The report has not revealed anything that New England has not already heard many times, but for the first time it arranges the facts in their proper proportion and does away with technicalities in fixing the responsibility. No real defense is possible, and it is difficult to see how any defense can be undertaken. The public must believe that the government investigation has fulfilled its purpose and the next important point is whether the matter will be allowed to fall through or whether it will finish up in the courts. "None of the directors would have been so careless," says the report. "In the handling of his own money as the evidence demonstrates they were in dealing with the money of other people."

Hereby lies food for thought. If the directors of the New Haven did as they were represented to do in this arrangement, they were directors in name only, and their influence was for evil. It is to be feared that in their negligence they were by no means exceptional. With cheerful alacrity Mr. Mellen related recently between reminiscent smiles how he and the other lesser financiers were pawns in the hands of the almighty Morgan, and throughout the country millions of money deposited by trusting investors in railroad and other stock are wholly in the hands of some car-leader chairman who dictates its disposition to a servile coterie of satellites. Apparently had Mr. Morgan taken several millions of New Haven money—and by the way, New Haven money was largely the money of poor or middle class New England people—to finance an aerial line to the moon the national board of directors would have voted to support him unanimously and would have given the almost superfluous authority.

The former board of directors of the New Haven railroad may not tremble in their shoes at the thought of possible prosecution—and indeed it is probable that they laugh knowingly when no one is around—but the report of the Interstate Commerce commission must have convinced them that being a director is more than an ornamental task. It may possibly dawn on a few of them that being an unthinking director who is directed by another is criminal, and that the responsibility for wrongs done under those circumstances does not end until restitution is made to the public. Commenting on the specific case of the New Haven, the Boston Post says, pertinently:

"If there is a possibility of holding these directors, many of them men of admitted personal probity, financially responsible for the New Haven's impoverished condition, these millions ought to be collected for the benefit of the stockholders. In that case it will be unpleasant for some of the eminent gentlemen to pay, but their conscience cannot save them."

If there are any dissenting voices against this view they will not in all probability belong to those who have been reduced to poverty by the "maladministration" of the accused directors.

CODDLING OUR POLICE FORCE

Considering the present financial status of this city and calling to mind the familiar attitude of our municipal council with regard to any suggestion for an improvement involving a monetary outlay, the proposition to give members of the police department one day off in fifteen, in addition to their present two weeks' vacation with pay is nothing short of outrageous. That four members of the governing body should have voted for such a proposition is an inexplicable as it is indefensible. If there is one citizen who still believes that the protestations of the present body regarding economy were sincere, their recent action will certainly show him that his confidence is sadly misplaced.

Where, outside the ranks of the police department itself, was there any call for this new and expensive municipal regulation? It comes on the city with more startling suddenness than the storm of Sunday last. Of course the police department rejoices. All public employees would like days off. Just as they like pensions and other things that they sometimes get when officials have not a very high sense of their responsibility. Nevertheless the expensive grant will not be approved by the great masses of Lowell people. When a far more desirable proposition than this, viz: that to give the firemen one day off in five, was proposed, Lowell threw it down unmistakably. Luckily for the police department, if unfortunately for Lowell citizens, the demand of the police department was not submitted to the people.

Let us examine the one day off in fifteen proposition which our mayor and commissioners have just foisted on the public. It will give each member of the department 21 and one-third free days each year, which is equivalent to a financial gift of $73 for each patrolman in the service. Our park department, our school department, and other departments are suffering for lack of adequate appropriations but the police department gets a gift of about $10,000 annually merely because they or their superintendent asked for it. This makes the "economy" cry look sick surely.

If the department can afford to give each man one day off in fifteen without affecting the service, then it appears that it could get along with just one-fifteenth fewer men than are now employed. There are at present in the department 111 patrolmen, 16 "supers" and 27 superior officers—154 in all. One-fifteenth of that number in round numbers would be ten and a patrolman's pay, ten men will earn in a year $10,950. But this new scheme in all probability means that supernumeraries will be called in to take the place of the men who have their days off, for from nine to ten will be off each day. If this be done, then it amounts to giving ten men a vacation daily with pay while hiring others to take their places. That would double the expense, or make the total cost of the arrangement at least $20,000 per annum.

In the reformed Lowell, police officers do not seem to be overworked; they do not look like an abused or ill-used body; they have two weeks' vacation annually with pay. Their hours are definite and they have a good deal of free time. How very different it is with the firemen who are on duty for the whole 24 hours, and on whom so much depends. They get one day off in eight but they are on duty three times as long each day as the police officers.

If there is any sense of fair play or any demand for sane city government in Lowell, the public protest against this glaring injustice of the municipal council will be both prompt and vigorous.

SALEM FIRE HEROES

Salem, Salem—here, there and everywhere! It is impossible to get away from it. On all sides communities large and small are calling attention to the conditions that brought ruin and misery to that historic city and showing how local shortcomings might at any time precipitate a like condition in practically all the cities of New England. With the impetus of the recent disaster, laws have been passed and municipal regulations have been made that will mean a great deal in progressive fire fighting and prevention for the future. This is especially noticeable in cities such as Lowell that have wooden tenements close together, shingled roofs, narrow streets, and a small fire area.

One of the newest regulations is that which favors placing the whole of a city within the fire district and having just as strict rules for the residential district as for the business district. Heretofore a man could easily get a permit to erect a house or barn and no one cared a great deal how dangerous or undesirable his plans were if they conformed with a certain external plan. Now, roofs, hallways, elevator shafts and such things will receive the attention of the authorities, for the truth is dawning on all our municipalities that in matters of fire risks a man is his brother's keeper. No selfish greed or indifference should be allowed to endanger a whole community. For instance, the leather factory where the Salem fire started might naturally hesitate to install sprinklers, owing to the cost, but what is the fire cost? Far more than can be counted in the enormous monetary loss.

Boston has succeeded in getting through a new fire ordinance and the papers there have not yet ceased agitating for still greater securities. They now want to have the fire district regulations extend to the entire city. Providence is another city which comes to the front with fire prevention activity. It has a close district of one and a half square miles with strict building laws but sixteen square miles are permitted to go on almost any old way. It is becoming recognized that the only adequate close district is that which embraces the entire city. Salem truths are gaining ground.

EXAMINING MR. WARBURG

The Boston Herald thinks that by refusing to be questioned by the senate committee, Mr. Warburg, the president's choice for the federal reserve board, is making a serious mistake, and many other papers are of the same opinion—enemies of a democratic administration to the contrary. "The senate is only doing its duty in making searching inquiry into the record of a man manifestly selected for leadership in this huge undertaking," says the Herald, continuing: "The theory that anybody is above investigation seems to us essentially dangerous." It seems to be the general opinion of all who have commented on the case that Mr. Warburg need have no fear of any questioning at the hands of the senate committee and therefore his stand is all the more unaccountable. He reflects the spirit of the occasional business man who makes a great success owing to supernatural ability, but who then regards any questions, official or otherwise, as an intrusion into private and personal matters. The man who would direct the affairs of the federal reserve board needs patriotism quite as much as ability, and if he has such a sense of his own importance as to feel that the United States senate is a secondary matter, perhaps it may be just as well that he be allowed to go his way, in isolated and unperturbed superiority.

PETTY GRAFTS

Governor Walsh very properly called the attention of the state a few days ago to certain petty grafts that are no credit to individuals responsible for them or to the patriotism of some Massachusetts politicians. From time immemorial it has been the custom of members of legislative commissions and others drawing pay from the public treasury to stretch matters a little bit when sending in a bill for personal expenses, and some of the petty grafters went so far as to include hotel bills for periods when they were in their own home town and bills for liberal tips given to waiters and others. The governor showed up the irregularity and dishonesty of this mode of procedure and he has instructed the state auditor to refuse to audit any such accounts until an investigation is made. In individual cases the leaks on the treasury were not very large but the governor stated that such small grafts cost Massachusetts many thousands annually. It would be well if it seems that in cases of habitual abuses of this nature the name of the guilty patriot should be published so that Massachusetts voters could repudiate anyone guilty of such mean and undesirable conduct.

WHY NOT JUSTICE TAFT?

Once again the death of a Justice of the United States supreme court brings the name of former President Taft before the public as a possible choice. When the late Justice Horace Harmon Lurton was appointed in 1910, it was generally admitted that President Taft recognized ability above everything else, and few democrats even of the most bitterly partisan variety would find fault if President Wilson should now offer the honor to the former chief executive in the same manner. Mr. Taft's ability as a lawyer has never been questioned and he has the conservative and philosophic mind which is essential on the supreme bench, more important in some respects than congress. As president, Mr. Taft got an insight into national affairs that would now stand him in good stead and his many legal pronouncements since he retired from politics reveal his patriotism, his deep-seated wisdom and his unusual knowledge of the processes of law and of the broad basis on which law is founded. President Wilson would make no mistake ethically or politically in making Mr. Taft the successor of the late Justice Lurton.

BERKMAN'S DREAM

Speaking in New York last Saturday at the memorial services of the dead anarchist, Arthur Aaron, Alexander Berkman predicted a sugar-coated revival of the French Revolution in this country and gave utterance to sentiments that would probably have landed him in jail for a long term in any other country on earth. He lauded force and bloodshed and referred touchingly to the "martyrs" who, he said, may have been "killed while making an instrument to destroy capital." If he speaks for any organized body of men in America, be it large or small, there certainly is sufficient warning for the authorities everywhere in the following insane effusion:

"As anarchists, we are now ready to do anything to gain the points we desire; we do not wish to do the things that the police and the press expect us to do, because that would be too simple. I predict that the social revolution will come in the near future and, when it does come, the anarchists will be more daring and more determined than they ever have been before. We are now ready to do anything to gain our demands, and to gain our rights."

SEEN AND HEARD

A broker, brooding over the heavy expense of maintaining his office, thought he would save money by having a cheap lunch.

He wandered into a little restaurant off Cheapside and ordered a frugal meal costing a few pence. Looking up, he recognized in the waiter an old stock broker.

"Hello, Harry, have you come down to this?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm all right. I only wait. I don't dine here," was the reply.—Times.

OBSEVANT CITIZEN IN WRONG

Here is one of the best fish stories of the season. I found it in looking through a copy of The Lowell Sun. In Long Pond there is a kind of a fish known as the rainbow trout. "The fish," says The Sun, "is white or deep red. The rainbow is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds."

The above observation is by the Observant Citizen in the Boston Post and it is very evident that this erudite citizen is not a fisherman. He may be a weather-wise and otherwise but he isn't fish-wise. In order that he may not leap again before he looks, we would respectfully refer him to The Angler's Guide, page 103. It will tell there that the flesh of the rainbow trout is white or deep red; that the fish is mature at six months and attains a weight of 25 pounds. We have forwarded his criticism to the editor of The Angler's Guide and also to the U. S. commissioner of fish and fisheries whose report on page 41 deals with the rainbow trout.

WILD ANIMALS' FIDELITY

One of the most remarkable instances of the fidelity of a wild animal to its mate, says the Mountain Times, comes from South Branch, Kent county, N. B., and is vouched for by a gentleman who is well known to the Times. He writes:

"I had business at South Branch, in Kent county, and stayed over Sunday with Thomas Hudson. His son A. F. Hudson has a few pens of red foxes, the old ones and five young ones. The young ones appeared in the yard out of their den about April 1, and since that time there has not been a night that a wild fox did not carry food from the forest nearby and leave it within two feet of the den. Mr. Hudson kept account for one week and there were twenty-six rabbits, ten mice, two partridges and one squirrel. It has brought seven partridges in all, and one night brought a flying squirrel and one mouse. People could not credit this story till they came and saw for themselves. Can this record be beaten by any other animal?"

MODEST LITTLE BLOSSOMS

Flowers which bespeak the affection and respect of friends for the man whose eyes death had closed in eternal and dreamless slumber filled five carriages.

Oreblids of exotic refinement, roses of exquisite coloring and haunting fragrance, lilies of chaste sweetness—all these and more were fashioned with all the beauty and art of which skilled workers were capable. Truly a tribute, wondrously fair, to successful, courtly and chivalrous manhood.

Yet amid all, it was an old friend who noticed the most touching tribute. From the younger son it was. Before they came, before the ceremony pronounced the final words, he had gone into the garden.

There he gathered a few modest little blossoms. Shyly and tenderly, with eyes swelled with tears, these were placed beneath the outer garment which clothed the silent figure, on the left side, beneath which a manly heart once throbbed.

There the blossoms rested; there they are resting.

IRA NELSON MORRIS UNANIMOUSLY CONFIRMED IN THE SENATE RECENTLY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The reported opposition to Ira Nelson Morris, appointed by President Wilson as minister to Sweden, did not materialize in the senate, and Mr. Morris was unanimously confirmed. It had been stated that the objection to him was because of his affiliation with the meat trust interests.

JOURNEYS NEAR HOME

Little journeys near home! Have you ever taken them? What one sees depends not upon distances, but upon the state of the mind. Europe may be just around the corner to those who are seeking foreign travel. All of which occurs to me after reading in a New Hampshire newspaper that Mr. and Mrs. George N. Dooley and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hills of Hudson Centre have just returned from an automobile trip.

They visited Windham Centre, West Windham, Canobie Lake station, Salem Depot, Salem Centre, Rockingham park, Canobie Lake park, Pelham Centre and nearby points. Their route ran past the magnificent Scaries estate in Windham. This place is worth going far to see. It is seldom one has in this country of ours an opportunity to see so large a tract of land enclosed by massive walls. One could easily imagine himself transported to China and its famous wall. These are built in the most workmanlike manner and are evidently designed to fence out the public, judging from their height and thickness, and only lack the watch towers and sentinels to give it the effect of a fortified place. Mr. Scaries' castle, built at enormous expense, stands out in bold relief, its frowning battlements crowning historic Jenny's hill. The owner some time since, having purchased Granite State grove, the well-known summer picnic grounds, has wired them in with stout woven wire fencing. Several strands of barbed wire twisted together are stretched above this. It has been said that Mr. Scaries attempted to purchase Canobie Lake park, but the owners refused to sell. If he had succeeded, no doubt this too, would have been enclosed for a private park. Some day probably the castle and its lofty walls will become a noted ruin and our land will not then lack what it now in its newness does not greatly miss.

IF I KNEW

If I knew the box where the smiles were kept,
No matter how large the key
Or strong the bolt, I would try so hard
"Would open, I know, for me.
Then, over the land and the sea,
I'd scatter the smiles to play,
So that careworn people might hold
Them fast
For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large Enough
To hold all the frowns I meet,
I would like to gather them, every one,
From nursery, school and street;
Then, folding and holding, I'd pack them in.
And, turning the monster key,
I'd hire a giant to drop the box
To the depths of the deep, deep sea.

HIS RESIGNATION

The resignation of Huerfano will be the achievement of the purpose declared by the Wilson administration more than a year ago.

The case of a sometime member of the livelier social set at Newport, to whom the Rhode Island superior court gave a while-you-wait divorce last week, is another good illustration of the growing popularity of trial marriage in this country and of the ease with which it can be practiced under the laws and the court methods of some of the states, such as Nevada and Rhode Island—Providence Tribune.

TEAMSTERS STILL OUT NO BREAK IN STRIKE

The members of Coal Teamsters union, local 72, met in their rooms in Central street last evening, and it must be said that it was some meeting. From the minute that President J. J. Fenell opened the meeting, it was full of life. Business of much importance was transacted and it is reported that one new application for membership was received. Yesterday the members received their benefits, and they were indeed a happy lot last evening. When the question as to whether or not they should return to work came up the members voted almost a man to hold out. Many speeches were made by the members, all having to do with the strike situation. These speeches, whatever they contained, elicited much applause from the members. It was hinted that a tie-up in a large industry would be effected soon. Indeed, it was said that it might occur today. One of the members when questioned by a Sun reporter as to the men on the Gosham street job joining in and helping the teamsters in their present difficulty, replied that this information would be known soon enough. The fact that they would lose their positions if they refused to return to work today didn't seem to trouble them.

None Went to Work

The teamsters lived up to their declaration made last night that they would not return to work and none went back to their old jobs this morning. All members of the Teamsters union gathered in their hall in Central street at 9 o'clock this morning and listened to words of advice from their officers. The teamsters will now wait for some move on the part of the dealers.

Regarding a statement in a local paper saying that the members of the local union applied for assistance in carrying on the strike, President Fenell said: "This statement is entirely false and I cannot understand from what source it came. The teamsters of this city have never applied for assistance outside of the city. As for the Boston union, we have nothing whatever to do with them."

Immediately after a meeting was called, and a list of routine business was transacted. It was noticed at the meeting that quite a few of the members were absent, but this was explained by the president, who told the members that the absent brothers were working on other positions, having accepted employment this morning.

What Dealer Says
A local coal dealer said he and the others would now proceed to hire men and do business as they had been long enough, while the men with motor trucks were doing the business of the city.

PUTNAM HEARING

"In 1909," replied Mr. Putnam. "Who had to step out when you were elected?"
"Charles J. Morse,"
"The present complainant?"
"Yes."
"How many times did he oppose you for office?"
"I object," said Mr. Hennessy.
"If your honor please," said Mr. Dunbar, "I want to show the animus here."
The mayor allowed the question and Mr. Putnam said that Mr. Morse had opposed him for office three times.
"In 1913 did you present a statement or requisition relative to the city manure contracted for by J. Walter Bowers?"
"I did."
Mr. Dunbar then presented the requisition. It was recognized by Mr. Putnam and read by Mr. Dunbar. The requisition was then marked "exhibit B."
Mr. Dunbar then read the contract between the city and Mr. Bowers. The contract embodied the proposals and Mr. Dunbar picked holes in some of the proposals because they didn't agree with the requisition. The contract was marked "exhibit C."
"Did Mr. Bowers haul manure from the city stable in 1913?"
"He did."
"Did you get any sand from him that year?"
"No, I did not. We were going to get sand from the Plain street job, but it was concluded on all sides that it would be cheaper to buy it from the Connors Bros."
"Can you tell me the name of the foreman who suggested to you and the then commissioner of streets and highways, Mr. Donnelly, that it would be cheaper to take sand from the Connors Bros?"
"Mr. Blessington."
Mr. Dunbar then asked Mr. Putnam about getting hay from Mr. Bowers. The latter said Mr. Bowers delivered a load of hay, although hay was not mentioned in the contract. Mr. Putnam also said that Mr. Bowers was willing to have the city take enough sand this year to make up for what the city didn't take last year.
Mr. Putnam said that Mr. Bowers was still taking manure from the city yard and by negotiation of Mr. Morse.
"What was the market value of the manure taken by Mr. Bowers in 1913?" asked Mr. Dunbar.
"I should say about $250," replied Mr. Putnam.
Mr. Dunbar then took up the matter of the sale of paving blocks to the street railway company and read the requisition as filed with the purchasing agent.
"At some time did you have a conversation with the purchasing agent, the mayor and somebody else?" asked Mr. Dunbar.
"I did," replied Mr. Putnam, "on more than one occasion. It was all agreed that the street railway should pay for material used by the street department."
That agreement had the approval of the mayor and city solicitor?
"It did."
"The blocks were delivered?"
"They were."
"When was the first Hassan paving laid?"
"1907."
"Who was superintendent of streets at that time?"
"Charles J. Morse."
"What kind of blocks were used by Mr. Morse in paving Central and Middlesex streets?"
"Vee blocks."
In reply to Mr. Dunbar, Mr. Putnam said he laid smaller blocks than Mr. Morse and that the blocks cost considerably less than those laid by Mr. Morse. He said that beginning in 1911 the street department began recutting blocks. He said that all of the blocks taken up by him were about 10 inches long, 4 inches wide and 6 inches, or thereabouts, in depth. He said that most of the blocks could be recut profitably.
What did the department do with its old blocks before the recutting of the blocks was begun?
"I understand that they sold them and that is why I recommended the sale of them."
When you found out that it was profitable for the city to recut the blocks, did you recommend the sale of any more blocks?
"No, sir. Not since the middle of 1911."
The practice of recutting was approved by Mr. Brown and Mr. Donnelly?
"Yes, sir."
At 1:05 o'clock the mayor declared a 40 minute recess.

Afternoon Session

Mayor Murphy called to order again at 1:30 o'clock and before the hearing was resumed, the mayor said he would like to have the petition of C. E. Tallo for the removal of a building from Ford street to M. Hope street acted upon and on motion of Commissioner Carmichael it was voted to grant the

Was Asked to Resign

"Hasn't the trouble been," asked the mayor, "as to the question of your authority to order these goods?"
"It has never been brought to my attention before."
Has Mr. Morse at any time since he has been commissioner of streets and highways asked you to resign?
"He has."
How soon after he took office did he ask you to resign?
"About two or three weeks."
Have you endeavored to work to the best interest of the city since you have been connected with the street department?
"I have."
Has there been any lack of discipline in your department?
"Not that I know of."
Who has control of the copies of requisitions made by you?
"They are in the office of the superintendent of streets."
This completed, for the time being, Mr. Dunbar's examination and Mr. Hennessy proceeded to cross-examine Mr. Putnam.
He asked Mr. Putnam if there was anything happened to cause Mr. Morse to ask him to resign and Mr. Putnam said he couldn't think of anything.
"Wasn't there something about two men that you employed?" asked Mr. Hennessy.
"Yes, there was. Mr. Morse complained about my employment of Capt. Prouty and a Mr. Wilkinson."
He came to me one morning at the stable and talked about the men. He also told me that he knew all about the manure contract with Mr. Bowers and he asked me to resign. He appeared to me as though he thought he had something on me and I told him I would not resign and that if he said too much I should probably call him to account for it."
Mr. Hennessy asked witness several questions relative to dates of bills, conversations held and agreements entered into, and Mr. Putnam said he would have to rely upon the dates of the requisitions; that he could not carry all the dates in his head.
"Isn't there a more extensive foundation under a nine-inch paving block than a four-inch block?"
"I don't think so."
"You had some trouble with Mr. Morse about the progress of the work early in 1914?"
"Not that I remember of."
Did he ask you about sleds?
"Yes, he asked me where they were and I told him they were in the barn cellar."
"Didn't he tell you that was no place for them?"
"He did not."
"Didn't he order you to get 16 men and a pair of horses to get the sleds out?"
"He did not. I think he told Mr. Blessington to get them out."
Do you remember when you got the load of hay from Mr. Bowers?
"Yes, I was in the year."
You took the hay after Mr. Bowers told you it was not under him in the contract?" observed the mayor.
"Yes, I did," replied Mr. Putnam.
What about this complaint about two men, Messrs. Prouty and Wilkinson being paid too much money?" asked Mr. Dunbar.
Mr. Morse complained about them being employed during the winter.
"They were repaving steam rollers and other things for the following year."
Do you think they were overpaid?
"I do not think so."
Had there been any snow when Mr.

Morse talked sleds to you—when he was grouping around looking for sleds?
"No sir, there was no snow."
"How much of a job was it to take those sleds out?"
"Eight or ten men could do it in a day."
"Did you advise with anybody relative to the load of hay which Mr. Bowers delivered?"
"Yes, I talked with Mr. Donnelly, the then commissioner of streets and highways, and he thought it would be well to get it."
"If you purchased the hay from any other person, you would have had to pay for it out of your appropriation," suggested the mayor, and Mr. Putnam said that was so.
"Was it your opinion," asked Mr. Dunbar, "that the rollers sent to Buffalo by Mr. Morse, could have been done here?"
"It was the policy followed by Mr. Brown and Mr. Donnelly to have the work done by Lowell labor, was it not?"
"It was."

NEW HAVEN AGAIN FELL

FOREIGN LIQUIDATION AGAIN RESPONSIBLE FOR HEAVINESS AT OPENING—CLOSED FIRM
NEW YORK, July 15.—Foreign liquidation was again responsible for the heaviness in today's early dealings in the stock market. Cables from London reported selling there for Paris and Berlin account. The only stock of importance to register a substantial gain was Union Pacific, which soon rose 1 1/2 on the decision of the court in upholding the extra dividend distribution to common shareholders. Baltimore & Ohio common and preferred which formed the greater part of this distribution were correspondingly depressed, losing 2 and 2 1/2 points respectively. Canadian Pacific lost 1 1/2 and in the specialties drygoods were forced to sell. The leaders were lower at the outset, but evinced a rallying tendency, only to fall back again.
Such tendencies as the market might have shown to improve its early position were nullified by further weakness in New Haven, which fell 3 1/2 points to 32, a new low record. Feelings were persistent and left little doubt of their liquidating character. Canadian Pacific also fell three points to a new low price. Low records were made by Rock Island common and preferred and the collateral bonds. Drygoods preferred added four points to its initial fall. Heaviness in Baltimore & Ohio issues extended to other eastern railways and were retarded selling of the Goulds.
Another selling movement in New Haven which carried the price to 49 1/2, caused general uneasiness during mid-session, stocks heretofore unaffected following the force of the general pressure. New Haven stock declined from 50 to 49 on a single transaction and New York, Westchester & Boston 1 1/2 under New Haven guaranty declined 1 1/2 points. Can. Pac and New Central added to their early weakness.
Further declines were recorded in the last hour, especially in shares of eastern roads. New York Central's net loss exceeding four points. Rallies of a point or more ensued in the final dealings.
Feverish conditions prevailed in today's markets, another heavy loss in New Haven and Canadian Pacific causing general losses. The closing was firm.

Hon. John F. Meehan
John F. Meehan was the next witness.
"You were mayor of Lowell in 1911," Mr. Meehan was asked by Mr. Hennessy. "That was true, and I was asked to make a statement."
The opportunity was allowed him and Mr. Meehan said it would be impossible for him to recall what happened in 1911. "Under the old form of government," he said, "the mayor had to depend upon the heads of departments entirely."
Asked relative to the sale of old paving blocks to the street railway company, Mr. Meehan said he remembered that Mr. Putnam recommended the sale of the blocks. My understanding was that the transaction was a fair exchange."
J. Walter Bowers
J. Walter Bowers was the next witness and he was questioned by Mr. Hennessy relative to the manure taken by him from the city stable.
"Did Mr. Putnam get any sand or gravel from you in 1913?"
"I think not. Mr. Putnam telephoned to me one day and asked if it would be all right for the city to take the sand

"Yes."
"Have you a contract with the city?"
"I have not."
"Who authorized you to keep on taking the manure?"
"Mr. Morse."
"And you have no contract?" said the mayor.
"No."
"Then you better not take any more manure."
Merriman Mfg. Co.
Mr. Currier, purchasing agent for the Merriman Mfg. Co., was the next witness. He testified as to the old paving blocks purchased by his company from the city. He gave the total number purchased as 24,972, the purchases extending over 1910 and 1911. Mr. Currier said that the man in charge of the yard, Mr. Stetson, checked off the blocks.
"How were the blocks paid for?" inquired the mayor.
Mr. Currier said they were paid by check from the Boston office.
At 3:30 the council adjourned to meet Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

STRIKING NEW PICTURE OF CARDINAL GIBBONS—80 YEARS OLD JULY 23

Cardinal GIBBONS—80 YEARS OLD JULY 23

BALTIMORE, July 15.—Cardinal Gibbons, who has just returned from his visit to Rome, will be 80 years old on July 23. He looks well and strong for his age. The accompanying picture was taken as he stood in his rooms on the liner looking out of the window as the ship entered New York harbor.
"I attended the consistory in Rome, where 27 new cardinals were created," he said. "From there I went to Lake Geneva and spent a few days with my friend, Frank Jenkins of Baltimore. At his chateau I met the queen of Belgium, and later, when in Brussels, I accepted the invitation of the king to visit the palace. From Belgium I went to Wexford, Ireland. The people there seem more prosperous and contented than ever before." Cardinal Gibbons as archbishop of Baltimore will receive $25,000 under the will of the late Elias Andrews, a wealthy Catholic, whose administration account has just been passed by the orphans' court.

ROUGH ON CARRIERS
WASHINGTON, July 15.—The automobile will soon succeed the one horse shay on many rural routes throughout the United States. Under the terms of a bill ordered reported yesterday by the house post office committee an allowance of $1800 a year will be authorized for rural carriers who use automobiles.
At present the standard rural route is twenty-four miles long and the maximum compensation $1200 a year. On recommendation of the postmaster general the length of the routes will be increased to fifty miles, and officials believe that a yearly allowance of $1800 will enable carriers on such routes to purchase and maintain automobiles of the cheaper type.

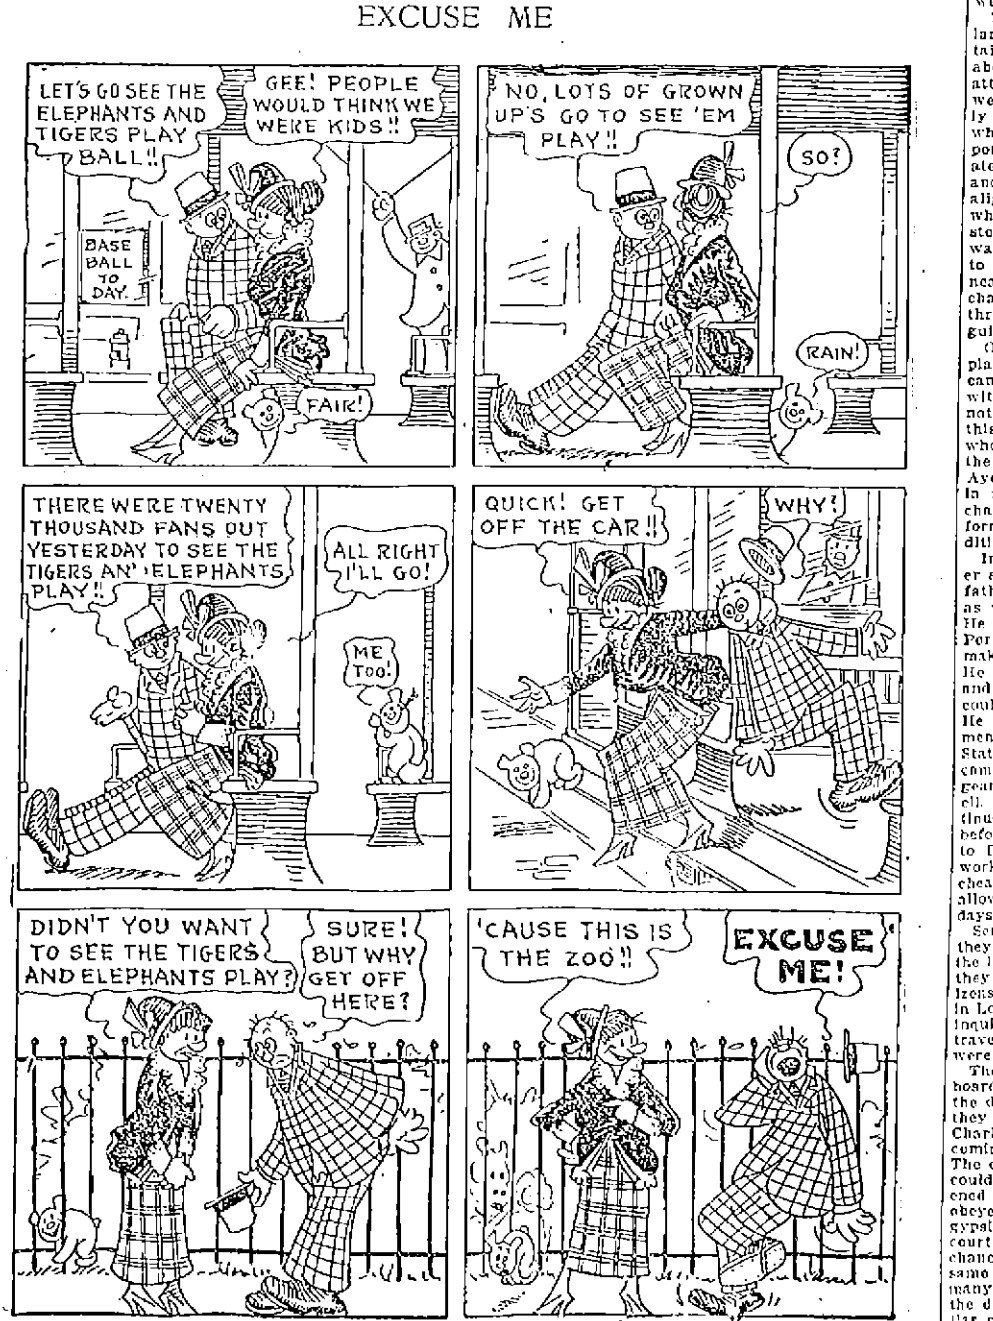

GYPSIES DRIVEN OUT
away for a few minutes the horses were started again.
The party which consisted of five large wagons of the gypsy type, containing some thirty men, women and about a dozen children, and two horses attached to each wagon and two ponies went through Merrimack square shortly after 10:30 o'clock. Ser. J. Maguire who was then talking with a Sun reporter, spotted them and he immediately boarded a car with the writer and Patrolman Ganley and the trio alighted at the head of First street, where they were sure the party would stop. A few minutes later the five wagons made a stop at the entrance to the land of the Locks & Canals Co., near the car shed and the men in charge attempted to lead their horses through the driveway, but Ser. Maguire warned them not to trespass.
Of course the gypsies wanted an explanation for they stated they had camped there on previous occasions without being molested and they could not see why they were being stopped this year. The leader of the gang who could speak little English stated the party came all the way from Ayer Junction and their horses were in need of a rest, but this did not change the mind of the officers who informed them they could under no condition camp in the city of Lowell.
Interviewed by the writer, the leader said the party was composed of his father, mother, sisters and brothers as well as cousins and their children. He stated they were on their way to Portland, Me., and they intended to make another stop at Newburyport. He stated his horses needed shoeing and he wanted to know if a blacksmith could be located in that district. He informed Ser. Maguire that the men were all citizens of the United States and they had as much right to camp where they pleased as the sergeant had to walk the streets of Lowell. "We are not murderers," he continued, "and all we want is a rest before we undertake the long travel to Portland. We have a lot of fancy work at our descriptions we will sell cheap to your people and if you will allow us to camp here for a couple of days you will never regret it."
Sergeant Maguire informed the party they were not wanted by the owners of the land, and it did not matter whether they were murderers or law-abiding citizens they could not pitch their tents in Lowell, and that settled it. The men inquired how far they would have to travel before they could rest and they were told to get out of Lowell.
The men, women and children again boarded their wagons and started in the direction of Newburyport, but again they were disappointed. Ser. Maguire, Charles A. Fox of Dracut saw them coming and he was soon on the job. The officer politely informed them they could not stop in Dracut and threatened them with arrest if they disobeyed his orders, and inasmuch as gypsies have no love for judges or court officers, they kept right on, and chances are that they were given the same reception in Lawrence, for on previous occasions the officers of the down-river city have ordered similar gangs out of their city.

TWO GIRLS DROWNED
CAUSE CAPSIZED ON LAKE QUASAPPAUG, MIDDLEBURY, CT.—MANY WITNESS ACCIDENT
MIDDLEBURY, Conn., July 15.—Mable T. Fox and Woodberry and May Freedman of New Haven, both about 20, were capsized today on Lake Quasappaug today and were drowned. Two other young women of the party in a canoe nearby were too frightened to give aid and of the many persons on shore 200 feet away, no one realized the predicament of the young women in time to attempt a rescue.

AMATEUR GOLFERS PLAY
NEWTON, July 15.—Former state amateur golf champion, made poor showings in the qualification games in the state title meeting at the Brae-burn country club today. This was notably so in the case of John G. Anderson, runner-up of Jerome Travers for the National championship last year and Perceval Gilbert. Anderson could muster nothing better than 57, while Gilbert played 61, a score that probably will barely get him into the match play which will begin tomorrow.

With about one-third of the field finished Vincent S. Lawrence led with a card of 52. Francis Outcrop, open champion, and present state title holder, looked good to lead the golfers when he played the out holes in 39.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bradley, formerly of Rock street, this city, will be grieved to learn of the death of their son at Palmer, Mass. Burial will be in Lowell. Funeral notice later.

The store of the New England Electrical & Supply company at 62 Central street was broken into a few days ago, according to the police, and electrical goods valued at about $10 stolen. Entrance was gained by breaking the plate glass in the rear of the store. It is believed that the break was the work of boys.

The committee in charge of the Grocers and Butchers' association's annual outing which will be held at Nahant beach tomorrow held their last meeting last night and completed all arrangements for the event. It is believed that the affair will be the most successful in the history of the organization, for tickets are going rapidly and all that is needed now is ideal weather. Special cars will leave Fairlee street at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow and the members of the committee wearing badges will be on the spot to see that there is no crowding on the cars.

Frederick T. Wilson, former proprietor of a variety store at 285 Branch street, came to Lowell yesterday, from Newark, N. J., for a brief visit. Mr. Wilson left Lowell last January, after selling his store, and he has done considerable traveling since that time. He left his automobile behind when he went away and he came back yesterday to get it. Mr. Wilson's Lowell friends are legion and inasmuch as he admits that he has not decided on a permanent location they hope that he may return to this city. He was always a great Lowell rooster and he says the old place looks just as good to him as ever.

WOUNDED MEXICAN FEDERAL HID AMONG DEAD COMPANIONS HOPING TO ESCAPE WHEN BURIED

These new pictures are among the latest from the heart of the war in Mexico. One of them was taken after the battle of Zacatecas and shows a cart filled with bodies of dead soldiers killed in the battle. When the order was given to cart the bodies away and burn them a federal soldier who was wounded and who was feigning that he was dead leaped up and surrendered. He thought he could escape after being covered with a foot of earth, but he knew he had no chance when he heard that the bodies were to be burned. He was lined up against a wall and shot dead for trying the trick. The other picture shows rebels about to leave Saltillo for the attack on San Luis Potosi, where the next big battle is expected.

FOR MENTAL DEFECTIVES FAVORIED BY DR. POGUE AT CONVENTION OF ALIENISTS

CHICAGO, July 15.—"A feeble minded woman can produce none but feeble minded children. Whether it is right to let such reproduce their kind is a question so new that we have as yet not come to a decision that is either ethical or moral."

Dr. Mary Pogue of Geneva, Wis., in an address today on sterilization or segregation of mental defectives before the convention of alienists and neurologists here said that society had not been able to nerve itself to the enforcement of sterilization laws. "Segregation probably will be more acceptable to the staffs of the various state hospitals than will sterilization," she said.

"We want the law to give us the right to sterilize all such or to segregate them until old age."

INSANITY ON DECREASE

Dr. George A. Zeller of Peoria, Ill., took issue yesterday with other speakers at the meeting of alienists, when he declared that insanity is on the increase. BIG MEETING OF O. M. I. CADETS

Greeted Rev. Fr. Sullivan at the School Hall Last Evening

Annual Encampment to Be Held at Milligan's Grove

MAJOR FRANCIS HAGGERTY

It was indeed a happy gathering last evening when 300 or more young men, members and past members of the O. M. I. Cadets, met in the Immaculate Conception school hall and listened to the glad words from their spiritual director, that there should be another one of the celebrated encampments for which the O. M. I. Cadets are noted in all parts of New England. It had been announced in the daily papers that there would be a meeting last evening, and the prompt response of the boys must have brought joy to the heart of Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., who has seen the boys but once since his return from the far west. After a few words of greeting, Fr. Sullivan asked the boys who intended to go to camp this year to stand up, and there was not a single boy left in his seat. Then it was that the date of the encampment, which will take place Aug. 4th at Milligan's grove, was announced. Fr. Sullivan then told the Cadets about his trip which took him away from the "hays he loved so well" as he expressed it. He was gone for two months. He told them about the society called the Legion of the Cross, of San Francisco, which has a membership of about 1100 boys, whose ages range all the way up from 12 to 22 years. Their drill, games and the encampment, which was held in Santa Barbara, while he was on the western coast, were all described to the boys, who thought that this organization was really wonderful until Fr. Sullivan said that it couldn't for a minute be compared with the O. M. I. Cadets. This brought about much handclapping and cheers for the reverend gentleman. He also told the boys that he hadn't given the matter of going to camp a thought until he received letters only last week from the young men in Springfield, who had heard of the O. M. I. Cadets' encampment, asking if he wouldn't send an information and rates regarding the camp. Another letter was received soon after from a young man in San Francisco, saying that he would be in Massachusetts the entire month of August and asked if he wouldn't be allowed to attend camp. He told them that this annual encampment entailed a whole lot of expense but if they would get together and help him out he would go more than half way with them. The young men, members of the Legion of the Cross, he said were taxed the sum of $15 for one week of camp life. In closing, he said that he wanted every boy, member and past member of the Cadets, to attend the monster meeting next Tuesday evening, where all of the final details will be mapped out. He was enthusiastically applauded at the close.
